BRYAN FOR THE MASSES. k Speaks for the Goldbugs-Re-

Clark, of his city, tonight debated of free comage of silver at the ratio of the comage of the complete of the complete of the comage of the complete of the 1, in the Mobile theater, which was ed with one of the largest audiences that ever assembled there.

Sefore the speakers were introduced M. After making a few troductory remarks the speaker went right the heart of his subject and cited to his earers that the debtor should have the hoice of the metals in which to pay. As se greater part are debtors and they deand silver, that metal will appreciate, ut if the creditor is to have the choice of the metals, he will take gold and then that hetal will be appreciated. Mr. Bryan hid that there was not enough gold in the orld to conduct the business of the world, and that there was bound to be some silver sed. He quoted from Carlisle, Sherman and Biaine as to the interest of the "idle Blaine as to the interest of the "idle ers of idle capital," in destroying half noney of the world that they might en-e the value of the other half. He also ance the value of the other half. He also noted from a speech made by Secretary arisise in 1878, in which he spoke of the vils that would befall the country if silver was destroyed as money. He said that a did not agree in the proposition to coin liver in the ratio of 22 to 1, as it would ake the dollar twice as large as it now and that by this operation the amount of liver in circulation in this country would se curtailed just one-half, and the metallic coney of the world reduced one-quarter and this would enhance the value of the re-aining three-fourths. He said that the metallists propose to create a demand for ning three-fourths. He said that the etallists propose to create a demand for er by law. If the government can take the silver at $1.29 per ounce it would worth that price. France maintained the coinage of silver at the ratio of 15½ to id there were not half as many people rance at that time as there are in the ed States now. Mexico cannot maintain wee coinage of silver because Mexico is mill country and she is not as large the united States.

sentences of my opponent does he know any more about the matter than he did at the start? There are many of you who can make a tirade on Carlisle, and there are about half a dozen who can throw mud at him—not more than a half dozen, since Kentucky spoke the other day. It is true that Kentucky elected a free coinage man, but she did it on a platform indorsing Cleveland and in favor of sound money. If any man undertakes to buy eggs at 50 cents per dozen that are only worth 25 cents all the world over, he will have a pretty trade and finally he will have to quite buying eggs, because his money will give out. My opponent, in saying that Mexico cannot carry the free coinage of silver successfully, admits that it is a burden for any country to carry, and that because this country is a little larger it will be better able to bear the burden. Congressman Bankhead said the other night when he spoke here that all the men who opposed the repeal of the 10 per cent bent tay were in favore the contract. the men who opposed the repeal of the 10 per cent bank tax were in favor of the free coinage of silver, and then turning to Bryan, he asked:

"Dld you vote for the repeal of the 10 per cent on state banks?"
"I did not," replied Bryan.

"Then," said Clark, "I leave you to set-tle that little difference with Bankhead when you get to Birmingham." Clark announced himself in favor of both gold and silver as money if they can be kept at a parity in the business of the country.

"The difference is this: Bryan favors silver monometallism, while I favor the limit-ed use of silver along with the unlimited use of gold."

In reference to the criticisms of Carlisle

Japan and India and the condition of the laboring man in those countries as the evidence of the effect of free and unlimited coinage of silver upon the laborer.

The speaker then asked Bryan as to what he understood by the free and unlimited coinage of silver. Was he in favor of taking the bullion to the mints and getting the silver dollars for it at once, or was he in favor of taking the bullion to the mints and getting in return paper receipts. Mr. Bryan replied that if the buillon cannot be coined fast enough, then he is willing to take the paper receipts and wait till the builting the builting the paper receipts and wait till the builting the paper receipts. lion is coined. TWO NEW TORPEDO BOATS. Be Built for the Navy-Terms of the Contracts.

the Contracts.

Washington, July 1.—The navy department today invited proposals for the construction of three steel twin-screw, seagoing toppede boats for the navy. The boats are to be of about 1,800 tons displacement. The material used in their construction is to be of domestic manufacture. The vessels may be constructed of steel or other metal, or of alloy. The contracts will require a speed of not less than an average of twenty-six knots perhour, maintained successfully for two conhour, maintained successfully for two con-secutive hours. If they fail to develop and maintain twenty-six knots, but exhibit an average speed of not less than twenty-five knots an hour, they will be accepted, so far as speed is concerned, at a reduced price, the reduction being at the rate of $10,000 a knot. If the reduced speed falls below an average of twenty-five knots an hour it will be optional with the secretary of the navy to reject the vessels or to accept them at a reduced price, to be agreed upon between the secretary and the contractors.

The act of congress authorizing the yes provided that one of them should be built on or near the coast of the Pacific ocean, one on the Mississippi river, and one on the gulf of Mexico. The act provided further than in case the vessels could not be built at these points at a fair cost they should be built at any place in the United States.

Referring to this section of the act, the proposals are: "In view of the fact that the department may not be able to make a contract for the construction at a fair cost of one of said torpedo boats either on the Pacific coast, or on the Mississipp river or on the gulf coast, it is desired that each bidder will state the price for which he will undertake to build one, two or all three of said vessels, according to the capacity of his plant, in order that the con action of the Edgefield county convention today makes it plain that there will be straight fight to the finish for the control of the constitutional convention, and no compromises. This convention must form a constitution of which white supremacy will be the keystone. These friends of ours say that they were in favor of white supremacy. But what kind of white supremacy? The white supremacy we want is one which Goff, the flesh nor the devil can take away. We want no negro vote. I proposed to give them half in the Tillman-Hemphill conference because the conservatives would be pledged to the necessary basic privileges. But we must go beyond that. We cannot trust them. Put them in that convention and 30,000 white men shall have cast their last vote. Why should our faction with 55,000 votes give the other faction, with only 22,000, one-half the delegates? We will never set that pace with my advice nor consent. Senator Tillman's advice was indorsed by a vote of 94 to 54. Resolutions approving the treatment of Colonel J. J. Dargan last week were passed. The Lancaster county convention today also refused to divide the delegates between the factions.

Dr. Buchanan at Last Pays the Penalty of His Crime.

He Resisted to the Last and Two Shocks Were Given Him.

THE FIRST DID NOT CAUSE DEATH

Sing Sing, N. Y., July 1.-Dr. Buchanan seconds after it was first applied.

Buchanan entered the room with his eyes closed, and did not open them at all. He ly scorched, and smoked during the last few seconds of the execution. The body was perfectly motionless after the current was turned on.

Thirty-two seconds lafter the current was turned off Buchanan was examined by the physicians, who discovered a slight pulsation of the heart. The victim also gasped, and the doctors declared that life was not extinct. The current was again turned on full force of 1,740 volts, where it was held for twenty-three seconds, when it was again turned off. Buchanan was dead at 11:23 o'clock 2. m.

Mrs. Buchanan returned from Rhinecliff, at 10:30 o'clock. She was met at the depot by an officer from the prison. She wished to be driven to the prison, but it was thought best not to allow this, so she was driven away, and is supposed to have been taken to Mrs. Sage's private apartments. It is understood that in her interview with the governor, she pleaded with him on her knees. The governor, who was very much affected, told her that as far as any assistance he could render he would gladly do it, but that he could not possibly prevent the law taking its course.

There can be no doubt of the fatality of the second shock. The persistence with which Buchanan clung to life marked his case to the end. Since the death of his wife, whom he murdered on April 23, 1892, in order to remarry the wife whom he had previously divorced, his case has been marked by un certainties which have made it famous He at first seemed likely to escape suspicion, and was not arrested until June 6th following the woman's death. His trial was delayed until March 20, 1893, and during its early stages his acquittal appeared probits early stages his acquittal appeared probable. When he was convicted April 26, 1893, a motion for a new trial was made, and the questions presented to the court were such that a decision was not rendered until August 14th, following, when he was sentenced to die October 2, 1893. On August 5, 1893, he was brought here, and has been here uninterruptedly since, with the exception of two days when he was taken away to be resentenced—once to New York and once to Albany. His case has been twice before the court of appeals of the and once to Albany. His case has been twice before the court of appeals of the state, once before the supreme court of the United States, and any number of delays and unusual legal proceedings have marked its course through the lower state and federal courts. Invitations to his execution were sent out four times by Warden Sage, but in the first three instances, on one ground or another, a respite was secured, and the infliction of the death penalty was postponed and finally, after every means of staying the execution were exhausted, it required two applications of the deadly electric current to overcome the tenacity with which the man clung to Had a Small Brain.

Had a Small Brain.

The most remarkable thing developed by the post-mortem was the size of the brain, which weighed 31% ounces, or less than three-fourths the average. All the doctors agreed after the post-mortem examination that the execution had been as successful as any which has preceded it in point of painlessness. The condition of the brain indicated the impossibility of consciousness after the application of the current. Dr. Irvine, who has witnessed nearly all the executions in the state under the new law, said:

"The failure of the first shock to effect, the new law, said:

"The failure of the first shock to effect death in this case was, in my opinion, due principally to the character of the subject. In the first place, Buchanan sat so motionless in the chair before the current was first applied that it was impossible to detect his respirations. No doubt the current struck him at a moment when his lungs were filled with air, instead of nearly empty as they should have been. This caused the expulsion of air after the first application of the current and also probably contributed to cause the slight pulsations which we detected after the current tions which we detected after the current was turned off. Apart from this fact that Buchanan had nerved himself to resist the shock had much to do with his tenaci-

The report of the capture of this insurgent general followed closely upon the heels of the announcement that the Spanish cortes complained of the issuance of a budget of considerable proportions for the war in Cuba. The reported capture would tend to "boom" the proposed financial scheme.

Latest advices from Spain indicate that the home government intends dealing with the insurrection in Cuba with an iron hand as soon as the rainy season is at an end. That will be early in September.

Just now the conditions prevent active military operations. All the revulets are now swollen streams that cannot be forded. It is impossible to chase those in retreat or give battle to those who stand their ground and no effort will be made to attack the insurrectionists unless the weather changes. Savannah, Ga., July 1 .- (Special.) - A man named Brown was talking rather freely in Sullivan's saloon this afternoon about what he would have done if he had been on the jury which tried Lem Davis for the killing of William Rawls. He made the statement that he would have hung Davis. One of Davis's sons, who was standing by, knocked out one of Brown's teeth and John Sullivan gave him a lick or two, which laid him out. An Ex-Detective Wants To Die.

Ex-City Detective John Kavanaugh made an attempt to commit suicide by swallowing two ounces of laudanum this morning. It was discovered shortly afterwards and physicians were summoned. He was brought around all right in a short while and is now in a fair way to recover. Kavanaugh would not say why he wanted to die. He has been drinking very hard lately and this is thought to have had something to do with his actions. He was a city detective under Mayor McDanauch a city detective under Mayor McDon and made himself very unpopular with the saloon element by the measures he pur-sued to detect and ferret out the violators of the Sunday laws.

OPPOSITION TO CASTLE Minister to Washington from Hawaii. San Francisco, July 1.—(Correspondence of United Press, per Steamer Australia, from Honolulu, June 24.)—A strong opposition has developed to the appointment of William R. Castle as minister at Washing-William R. Castle as minister at Washington. His name with several other appointments was sent into the senate on the 20th by the president for certification. In executive session an attack was made by Senator McCandless upon Mr. Castle, and his name and that of F. Hastings, secretary of legation, were referred to a committee consisting of Baldwin, Brown and Water-consisting of Baldwin, Brown and Waterhouse. This committee has not yet reported. The opposition to Castle has been especially voiced by members of the American League, which comprises the most radical element in the republic, and by their organ, The Star. This paper has retrained from specifying any particular objection to the nominee, but intimates in general terms that "a large majority of those comprising the support of the government are firm the support of the government are firm in the conviction that Mr. Castle is not the man for this place." It also recommends Mr. Hastings as "standing well with the state department and having a good footing at the white house. He has the confidence of the people here."

The Advertiser, which supports Mr. Castle, says: "Neither Mr. Cleveland nor Sec retary Olney have reason to believe that any representative of this government might have sent congratulations to them on the Hawaiian policy of the administration Frank Hastings is mentioned as the proper person for the place, etc. He has many friends in Washington and many in Hawaii. Withal he is a very capable young man but as representative at the most important post in our diplomatic and consular corps Mr. Hastings is not the man for the position. He should, if possible, be a native of Hawaii, or at least a man who for many years has been active in and acquainted with the public affairs of this country. Mr. Hastings does not possess these qualifications.'

Mr. Castle has been generally considered popular and acceptable man. It is now brought to light that there is a number of more or less influential persons hostile to him for personal reasons, connected with law business. The fact of his having long done much work for a considerable Chinese clientage has also worked against him. How the senate will finally decide is somewhat doubtful, although the probability is in favor of Mr. Castle. It is not thought in the least probable that the pres-ident would nominate Mr. Hastings for the office if Mr. Castle is rejected, although Mr. Dole is very friendly to him. He has never been prominent here in public affairs and was quite neutral in politics until after the republic was established. Some prominent leader in the revolution would naturally be chosen for the post.

The following have been chosen mem bers of the council of state by the senate C. Bolte, German; W. C. Wilder, Amer P. C. Jones, American; Cecil Brown, Eng lish; C. C. Kennedy, Scotch.

former advisory council. The president will name the remaining five members tomorrow, when the whole council of state will be sworn in.

In a recent interview ex-Minister Thurs-ton stated that the government had expected to give to the republic his report upon his relations with the secretary of state, but that on account of Mr. Gresham's death they hesitated to publish what severely reflected upon the dead man. Mr. Gresham's charges against himself were, however, so serious as to call for a public explanation. He could not say what would

FITZSIMMONS'S TRIAL.

Dr. Tolman Insists That the Blow on the Jaw Killed Riordan.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 1.—Expert testimony was resumed in the Fitzsimmons trial for manslaughter this morning, and Dr. D. M. Tolman was again required to state what he considered the cause of Riordan's death. Again he swore that it was concentrated violence on the man's jaw. Then the expert was asked if the rigors and convulsions which Riordan showed on falling to the stage after Fitzsim mons's blows were not due to the concussion of the brain and laceration of the brain tissues. He said they were due to those causes. The laceration at the base of the brain the physician considered fatal in itself. The question as to whether or not a short, quick, rapid blow, delivered by boxing gloves weighing six to ounces upon the jaw of a man, is likely to produce severe bodily injury, was objected to, and the objection sustained—a victory for the defense.

After recess Drs. Didiama, Kaufman and Smith, all of whom were present at the auwas caused by the blow that was given. Each of the doctors was subjected to a se-vere cross-examination, but none could be swerved from the statement made in the direct testimony.

The case will be resumed tomorrow.

THE GOLDBUG SLATE

Oates Is To Run for the Senate and Clark for Governor.

MORGAN AND PUGH'S SEATS COVETED

But There's Many a Slip Twixt the Cup out by the Alabama Cuckoos.

Montgomery, Ala., July 1.-(Special.)-It is stated as a fact that an amicable arrangement has been at last effected be tween Governor Oates and Congressman Clark with reference to the "sound money" slate of '96. It is stated that Governo Oates will be the administration candidate for the United States senate and that Mr. Clark will make the race for governor, the programme being that he shall hold the office for four years and succeed Sena tor Morgan, whose term expires in 1901.

The tip comes from a man of considerable political and professional prominence as by one who ought to know. He says that within two weeks this news will be given out through the administration papers the state. This has always been regarded as the most practical arrangement for the 'sound money" people to pursue and the only trouble heretofore has been that Mr. Clark has declined to make the race for governor. At least that is the way the gossips have had it. If it is a fact that this arrangement has been perfected, the bimetallists will have a most formidable ticket to defeat. The result of the last democratic primary in the state is evidence enough as

The list wa due to have been announced some .im nd the applicants have been impatient to hear the results of the board's selections It now develops that the hitch was over -election of two of the lady teachers

It will be remembered that several month ago an interesting will case was tried in the courts here involving the property of a Mrs. Kennedy. The estate was a large and valuable one. In spite of the fact that Mrs. Kennedy had many close blood relatives who needed for sustenance the property left at her death, all of it was left to the Coghills, people who lived in the neigh borhood with her, but who had no claim whatever upon her. It was attempted to be shown at the trial of the case that the Coghills had taken advantage of Mrs. Kennedy's ignorance and the helplessness of her condition; had, during her illness required her relatives to stay away from the house on the ground that the physi-cian had instructed that Mrs. Kennedy should be kept entirely quiet, and while in her enfeebled condition of mind had in fluenced her to make the Misses Cognill and their brother her heirs. The will was promptly defeated in the court and the Coghills were severely criticised by the public for their action in the matter. When it became known that they had applied again for their places in the public schools flood of complaints were presented to the board of trustees and the matter of their re-election was discussed for several meet-ings. Finally the board re-elected them by ings. Finally the board re-elected com-a vote of 3 to 2. There is considerable comprobable the matter will be allowed to stop Montgomery, Ala., July 1.—(Special.—A prominent railroad man from Mobile is authority for the statement that the Mo bile, Jackson and Kansas City railroad, through its directors, has been negotiatin with responsible parties through F. Merrill, in regard to the building of the road and that these negotiations have resulted in a proposition to enter into a conct to build the road for its securiti provided the directors would raise $240,000. The subscriptions are to be paid in intallments as the road is built and equippe to certain points. Mobile is expected to raise $125,000 of the amount and the balance will be collected along the line of the proposed road. Farmer Smyly Poisoned. Letohatchee, Ala., July 1.—(Special.)— Sometime since Mr. John Smyly, of this county, killed a notorious negro named Monroe Phifer. Threats have been made against Smyly by some of Phifer's kinsfolk and recently as he sat at his table a huge rock was thrown at him through an open window. After he had eaten a few mouthfuls of breakfast on Saturday morning he became deathly sick. A physician was hastily summoned and barely saved his life. It was found that his coffee had beer poisoned. Phifer's relatives are suspected. A Heartless Negro.

After he had been gone a day or two Mr. S. F. Alston was in the garden near the house where William had lived and, hearing groans coming from the house, he went in to investigate, and found the old woman on the bed in a most desperate condition. She had been there a couple of days without anything to eat and without any kind of treatment whatever. She was very low when found, in fact, almost dead. Although medical aid was called in she was too far gone to be saved and died shortly afterwards.

KILLED COLSTON AND HIS MISTRESS

But Not Until He Had Dropped Two

Paducah, Ky., July 1.—News was received here today of a quadruple tragedy in a remote section of Trigg county last Friday night. John Rhodes and Chat Hammond were shot dead by Abithat Coiston, an exconvict, and the next morning the bodies of Coiston and Milly Smith, his mistress, were found in the road riddled with buckshot. Ie seems that Colston, who had re-cently been released from the Frankfort penitentiary, where he had been sent for forse stealing, had ever since his release horse stealing, had ever since his release been gunning for all who were witnesses against him. Among them were five brothers named Rhodes, and they were the first sought by the ex-convict. Meet-ing John Rhodes, at Rhodes's landing, he shot and instantly killed him. He then started for the other Rhodes boys and not far from the spot where he had shot John Rhodes he saw Cath Hammond giving Abe-Rhodes a drink of water from a spring. Rhodes a drink of water from a spring. This so exasperated Colston that instead of killing Rhodes, as he had intended, has killed Hammond. He then left Rhodes, who was unarmed, and went to where his mistress, Milly Smith, lived. They spent part of the night in a drunken carousal and shortly after daylight both were found dead in the road. Whether they were shot by indignant citizens or by the Rhodes boys, or their friends, may never be

On Saturday the Wilcox County Silver League was formed at a meeting held here. There was a good attendance of representative men. Strong speeches were made in favor of bimetallism and in condemnation of the financial policy of the present administration.

Delegates to the Griffin convention were elected as follows: Colonel D. B. Nicholson, D. M. Elkins and A. B. Cain.

Vice presidents of the league were named for each district in the county, and it is made the duty of each of these officers to enroll the friends of silver in his dis

From the reports at the meeting it is no exaggeration to say that in this county not more than one man in ten indorse the gold standard financial policy of the Cleveland administration. The people are nine to one for silver.

AT LAGRANGE TODAY. The Troup County Delegates to Griffin Will Be Chosen.

LaGrange, July 1 .- (Special) Tomorrow the Bimetallic League of Troup county will meet here to select delegates to the Griffin convention.

Troup county is strongly for silver, and gives the heartiest indorsement to this convention at Griffin. The announcement that Senator Morgan is to address the convention was received with great enthusiasm here, and a large number of people other than the regularly elected delegates will doubtless attend the convention.

The people of Troup county were never more deeply in earnest than they are in their advocacy of the free coinage of silver. The Cleveland-Carlisle gold standard has very few followers here.

Hogansville, Ga. July 1.—(Special.)—Saturday evening the Hogansville Bimetallic Club met in the city hall and elected delegates to attend the mass meeting in La. Grange next Tuesday, at which meeting delegates to the Griffin convention will be elected. The silver men of Troup are en-

JEFFERSON ACTS TODAY.

Delegates To Be Elected to the Convention at Griffin.

Walley, Gat, July 1.-(Special.)-Silver sentiment, already strong in this section, is constantly gaining ground. As the day appointed for the Griffin convention draws near, the people are becoming aroused on the subject and are declaring themselves the subject and are declaring themselves for silver. Democrats and populists alike declare themselves for silver. The silver letter of Hon. George W. Warren, exstate /senator, democrat and prominent lawyer of Louisville, published in the most recent issue of The News and Farmer, was a telling stroke for silver. The great majority agree with him when he says: "Any one who is not blinded by the gold craze can easily see that we are suffering from an insufficiency of money, brought about by the demonet_zation of silver.

A mass meeting will be held in Louisville tomorrow to elect delegates to the Griffin convention. Jefferson county will be represented by some of her most prominent democrats.

July 18th. A meeting has been called by the local sympathizers with the movement to be held next Friday night at the Chamber of Commerce at 8 o'clock.

This meeting is for the purpose of getting the silver men of the city together to discuss plans for representation at the Griffin ecnvention. Delegates will be selected and all preparations made for having the friends of silver in Atianta and Fulton county well recommended at the gathering of the crowds of Georgians at Griffin.

The meeting at the Chamber of Commerc Friday night will doubtless be well attended and definite plans will be arranged for sending a large delegation from this city to Griffin. There is considerable enthusiasm among the local supporters of the cause of silver, and the meeting will doubtless be a very interesting one.

The Case Will Come Up in Twiggs Court July 9th-The Guilty Parties Did Not Cover Their Tracks Well.

Jefferson wille, Ga., July 1 .- (Special.)-There are some new developments in the killing of old man William Nobles. Sheriff Jones has made three more arrests-one negro man and two negro women-the man being charged as one of the principals in the crime and the women as accessories. They are in jail, which is guarded day and night to prevent escape. Mrs. Nobles, in an interview with The Constitution's correspondent, denies participating directly in the killing, except so far as paying $10 to have it done. She says she was not present when the killing occurred. She states that the old man male life a burden to her all the time by quarreling with her and finding fault with her

The discovery of the body came about through the appearance of a cotton patch near the house. The cotton stalks were broken in places and leaves from the stalks in unusual numbers were upon the ground This portion of the patch had been fresnly plowed, too, to efface the tracks and re-move traces of the blood where they car-ried the body across the field to the woods. After burying it in a very shallow grave the ground was smoothed over and fine straw spread carefully over it to give it the appearance of the rest of the thicket. Swarms of flies located the grave to the searchers,

This special prisoner had not been in the jail more than an hour, however, before he regained his liberty, which he accomplished by burning a hole through the floor. Johnson was the only prisoner in the jail at the time, and the doors of the cells below him being open, his escape was complete when the passage way through the floor had been effected. The prisoner saturated his blankets with water and arranged them in a circular form upon the floor with which a torch was applied. In this manner he burned a round hole and at the same time extinguished the fire as it burned down with the wet blankets.

coming on the heels of the statement sent from Brunswick to the effect that the con-vention is a failure is significant. The Constitution's representative has been here since the association convened and finds that without doubt the present session is the most enthusiastic, most interesting and most successful ever held. Ever since the first day's session of the association, the crowd has been immense, the hotel being taxed to its utmost capacity. Some of the articles concerning the association sent out from Brunswick have caused many teachers to remain away, but notwithstanding this the attendance is very large. Additional resolutions concerning the articles referred to have been passed by the asso-ciation. They are of a milder nature than those introduced when the association first learned of the libelous publications. They

Macon, Ga., July 1 .- (Special.)-Jim Harris, colored, made a desperate attempt this norning to kill his seventeen-year-old wife, whom he wedded about six months ago He cut her with a knife twice and shot her three times with a bull-dog pistol. They lived in a house in an alley in the rear of the city hall. He first attacked her with a knife while they were in the yard. He cut her slightly on the left hand and on the left side of the face near the lip. She ran into the house, pursued by her husband. He shot her in the right side of the head above the temple. The ball is imbed ded in the skull. This is the wound that mey kill her. Another bullet entered to he left and near the middle of the back. A third bu'let, a glancing shot, entered just under the skin at the left shoulder and came out near the right shoulder. Her screams and the shots of the pistol were distinctly heard at the city hall and Detective Patterson, Officer Frank Moseley and Station Sergeant Long rushed to the scene. The woman was found lying on he light side on the floor, speechless and ap-parently dead. Harris was standing up in the middle of the room. He made no effort to escape, and gave no resistance to the officers, but he placed the muzzle of his pistol against his left eye for the purpose of killing himself, but for some the cylinder would not revolve. Every one should have a certain surplus of flesh to meet the emergencies of sickness; to resist the attack of consumption, grip, malaria and fevers. Thin blooded people are always getting sick, and none of the organs of the body can get along without the food they require for work, which is, pure blood. To gain and to keep strength and flesh is the secret of health, usefulness and happiness. With new blood and refreshed nerves a confident feeling of returning health comes also.

Nervous manifestations, such as sleep-lessness, nervous debility and nervous prostration are in nine cases out of ten "the cry of the starved nerves for food." If you feed the nerves on pure rich blood the nervous symptoms will cease. It is bad practice to put the nerves to sleep with so-called celery mixtures, coca compounds or malt extracts; what is needed is a blood maker. The "Discovery" is composed of vegetable ingredients which have an es-pecial effect upon the stomach, liver, and blood making glands. The particulars of his case are as follows: He farmed a few miles from Byron. He was forty-two years old and in good health. On May Zist a mad dog suddenly rushed at his little son. Mr. Walton jumped between and kicked the doc. which turned and bit him.

The animal seized him by the leg and threw him to the ground and then bit Mr. Walton severely on the right hand. The dog ran off without biting Mr. Walton's child. Later the dog bit two little girls aged six and nine years, the children of Messrs. Henry and Jeff Hardison. Up to last night they were well and showed no signs of hydrophobia, though their parents are greatly distressed lest they may be attacked with hydrophobia later. After biting the two children, the dog bit three dogs, all of which soon went mad and died. The dog also bit hogs and other stock. A number of men pursued the dog in his mad run and succeeded in killing him in about two hours after biting Mr. Walton.

The Pasteur Treatment.

Mr. Walton was bit on May 21st. He and his friends became apprehensive that he might have hydrophobia, and as a precaution against it, they determined to try and raise enough money to permit him to go to New York to take the Pasteur treatment. Citizens of Macon and Houston county subscribed about $347 to pay the expenses of the trip, as he was a poor man and-had no surplus money of his own. About June 2d he left for New York. Up to this time no symptoms of hydrophobia had developed.

On last Wednesday evening Mr. Walton was attacked by violent pains in the right hand, which was bit by the mad dog. Soon the pains extended up the right arm. On Thursday night the pains had beome so severe that Dr. R. H. Baskin was sent for. Later Drs. Champion and Crawford also came to see Mr. Walton and to aid in his relief. The pains continued in the hand and arm until Friday night when they ceased. He manifested an aversion to water, and the sight, touch or taste of it was unbearable and seemed to aggravate his sufferings. In fact, he could drink liquid of no sort, not even milk or whisky. He was then not otherwise affected except that his body commenced to itch and Mr. Walton said he felt as if he were burning up. He was perfectly rational and told his relatives and friends that he believed he had hydrophobia. On Sunday he got worse, and calling his family to his bedside told them to leave the room, shut the door and allow him to remain alone, as he felt he would soon go crazy from the disease and he did not wish any of them to be in the room as he might unintentionally hurt them.

THE EXPOSITION IN CAROLINA. A Charleston Man Advises His People

Columbia, S. C., July 1.-(Special.)-Mr. August Kohn, special correspondent of the Charleston News and Courier, has returned from Atlanta. He says that the States and International exposition will be greater than the Chicago world's fair, proportionate to the sphere it is intended to represent. He freely admits that Atlanta is the only city in the south that could have undertaken and carried out such a gigantic undertaking. He says that the people of South Carolina who visit the exposi-tion will be amazed at what they see, and that those who have not seen Atlanta in the last few years will be almost dum-founded that such a metropolis has grown up so near South Carolina. One day during the present week The News and Courier will publish a full page account, with illustrations, of the work being done on the exposition grounds.

A Dose of His Own Medicine.

A gentleman from Sumter calls to mind the fact that Colonel John J. Dargan, who came so near being mobbed by the reformers in Edgefield last week, was one of the eaders in a gang that gave one Sam Lee little severer treatment in 1876 for utter ing sentiments similar to those held by Colonel Dargan now. This gentleman says that Colonel Dargan has no right to plain, for it was only a few weeks ago that Colonel Dargan suggested through columns of his paper, The Freeman, that Judge Buchanan, a recently elected cir-cuit judge, be greeted with a shower of bad eggs when he went to make his home in Sumter. But there are very many condemn most heartily the treatment Colo nel Dargan received at Edgefield, and take it as a text to preach upon the lack of toleration in the state since the reformers

The Registration Case Again.

Mr. Charles A. Douglass, of Washington D. C., leading counsel in the Mills registra-tion case, is here on professional business. Mr. Douglass says the appeal from the decision of the court of appeals will docketed during the present week, and that the case will come up for a hearing probably in November—after the constitutiona convention shall meet; that he will make convention, and that he does not think that it can be prevented by any one. He says that the effect of a decision by the supreme court of the United States that the registration laws were unconstitutional be to invalidate the whole work of the convention, or it might not be held to have a so far-reaching effect. He says that the supreme court might not decide the case upon its merits at all, but may follow the narrow lines of the decision by the court of appeals, and in such an event the work of the constitutional convention would no be affected at all.

Mr. Douglass says that the position of Judge Goff in the registration cases has been entirely misunderstood. The impression was general that Judge Goff, by his decision, attempted to prevent the holding of the convention, but that such would not of the convention, but that such would not have been the effect of the decision, which merely let down the registration barriers so that every qualified voter in the state could participate in the election of delegates. Mr. Douglass thinks that great injustice was done Judge Goff by the press of the country in dismatter, and especially in the country in dismatter, and especially in the country in dismatter. error was The New York World which con-founded an ex parte order made by Judge Goff at Clarksburg with his decision rendered in Columbia.

In view of the very many harsh criticisms that have been made upon Mr. Douglass, a former South Carolinian and legislator, in trying to upset the registration laws of his state after he had enjoyed honors under the Mr. Douglass, and the state of the product of the state his state after he had enjoyed nonors un-der them, Mr. Douglass says that he is merely doing a professional duty in the matter, and with the effect of a favorable or unfavorable decision in the case he has absolutely nothing to do; that he has alabsolutely nothing to do; that he has all ways felt that the registration laws should have been settled in advance of the election of delegates and the holding of the convention, and his only regret is that they were not passed upon by the courts long ago.

Hangman, Breathes His Last. Washington, July 1 .- Robert Strong, familiarly known as "Colonel Robert Strong," who executed Guiteau, the assassin of President Garfield, died in this city on Saturday of his infirmities, incident to old age, being close upon his eightieth year. He had been an officer of the district jail nearly thirty years, and during that period executed eighteen criminals, the last one only a year ago, when his nerves seemed as steady as if not strained by the wear and tear of seventy-nine years of life. He was born in Albany, N. Y., and in early life went for a sallor, and the knowledge he thus acquired of ropes and knots led to his selection as the district hangman. Before settling in Washing-ton he went out to California with the forty-niners, and assisted in building the old San Francisco mint. He afterwards took a hand in building the house wing of the capitol. Barring the professional na-ture of his duties he was a jovial, kindhearted man in private life, and sacrificed most of his own means to aid a brother in protracted litigation of a claim of many thousand dollars against the city governthousand dollars against the city government for unpaid services as contractor."

Judge Hart Spoke Earnestly and at Times Was Visibly Affected.

TOUCHING ALLUSION TO MYERS' MOTHER

The Motion for a New Trial Will Be Argued on July 29th at Union Point-Mr Moyers Still Extremely Hopeful.

Shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon Will J. Myers, twice convicted of the murder of Forrest L. Crowley, was for the second time sentenced to pay the death penalty for the horrible crime charged against him.

August 2d is the date that Judge John Hart, his lips tremulous with an emotion that was not displayed upon the rigid countenance of young Myers, set for the execution of the young criminal.

But Myers will not be hung upon that day and there will be another date set after the various motions and legal procedures have been disposed of. It was probably this knowledge that lent to Myers the coolness that seemed altogether out of keeping and which he alone seemed to ex

Judge Hart in sentencing the prisoner was at times so affected that he talked in such a low tone that the prisoner, standing up to receive the sentence, involuntarily leaned forward to catch the words; the stenographer, too, was unable to hear all said by Judge Hart, though he sat very near him.

At the references made by the judge to the mother of Myers, there was hardly a dry eye in the courtroom, save the young prisoner's. Solicitor Hill found the floor intensely interesting and Sheriff Barnes was unable to hide a tear that tumbled without permission down his cheek. Myers's father placed one hand before his eyes and sat in that attitude during the sentencing of his son. It was, indeed, a scene that called for tears. Judge Hart spoke with a tone of wonderful earnestness and evidently felt every word that he said. It was Myers alone who was unmoved. There was only one instant when he showed the least emotion. It was when Judge Hart asked him if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon him. When Myers began his reply he spoke in a choked voice and his lips trembled for an instant, then he held his hand up and looked without flinching straight at the man whose painful duty it was to send him to the gallows of a convicted murderer.

At the conclusion of Judge Hart's words. Myers bowed and quietly sat down. In a few minutes he was led from the courtroom and his attorneys made a motion for a new trial.

The hearing of the motion was set for July 29th and will be argued at Union Point, before Judge Hart.

Few People Knew of It. It was not generally known that Myers was to be sentenced yesterday at 1 o'clock, as it was decided by the court officials to keep the matter as quiet as possible.

At 1 o'clock, with the promptitude and punctuality that characterized him during the trial, Judge Hart rapped for order in the court—a rapping that was entirely unnecessary, save as a matter of form, for there was an absolute stillness when he There were not more than fifty people in the courtroom, three of whom were young women. Myers's father sat awaiting the entrance of his son. Clerks Miller and Myers brought the dockets to Judge Hart and handed him the indictment. Solicitor Hill sat near the table that he used dur-ing the trial. His assistant, Mr. John Monaghan, sat in the Jury box near Mr.

W. T. Moyers, the counsel for Myers.
There were several newspaper men, the court stenographers, a number of bailiffs and some twenty on-lookers.

Myers walked from the prisoners' room, where he had gone to take off the belt and handcuffs, and walked with sturdy step into the courtroom and sat beside his father. He was a little warm from the trip from the jail. He leaned over and spoke something in a whisper to his father, who answered. Mrs. Myers was not

Myers hesitated for an instant. He looked toward his counsel, Mr. Moyers, looked back toward Judge Hart and said, falteringly first, and with a kind of husky

"I have only this to say: I am inno There was a slight pause and Judge Hart

I feel that you were justly convicted.
"It only remains for me to pass upon yo the sentence that the verdict of twelve men makes it necessary for me to pass. As I understand it, this is your second trial. In each instance the jury has found you guilty and has failed to recommend you to life imprisonment. It was the right of the jury to give this recommendation if the jurors saw fit. There has been a failure to do so. Yet there still rests with me the right to give you life im-prisonment, as the case is one of circum-stantial evidence. "I have been moved by your youth and by the devotion of your loving little mother, who stood so faithfully by you during the long trial and I have felt for the father

Judge Hart's voice had descended to a tone that was full of emo-tion and tears were in the eyes of many in the courtroom; but Myers was not among the number. The father, in order to hide the grief that must have been tearing at his heart, sat with bowed head and kept his eyes behind his hand.

Believes Myers To Be Guilty.

"I have the right to send you to the centtentiery for life," reiterated Judge Hart. "It is a right that is given to judges in order that the law may guard against a possibility of innocence. But it is not within the range of possibility that you are innocent from the testimony that was introduced against you. "I don't know why you did this great rime. It was through no fault of your

A Motion for a New Trial. Mr. W. T. Moyers, when Judge Hart had written out the sentence, handed to him a motion for a new trial. It was upon the usual grounds, and set forth that the verdict was contrary to the evidence.

Mr. Moyers explained to Judge Hart that would be impossible to get the records of the last trial before some time next week, and that it would be necessary to have them in order that the defense could proceed with their side of the motion. Solicitor Hill was called back to the courtroom and conferred with Mr. Moyers and Judge Hart on the situation. finally decided that the hearing of the motion for a new trial should take place on July 29th "You, gentlemen, understand, said Judge art, "that I cannot come here to hear the motion for a new trial. I will be in Union Point on the 29th, if that is sauls

It is almost a foregone conclusion that Judge Hart will refuse to grant a new trial. When he does the case will go to the supreme court. The records will have to be filed with the clerk, and it is not possible that the supreme court can dispose of the case until the latter part of August or early fall, Attorney Moyers Is Still Confident.

Mr. W. T. Moyers has never believed that Myers will be hung. He believes now that the supreme court will grant him a new trial and has a faith of a most abiding nature in the innocence of Myers. It is possible that he has taken that view of the case so long and so earnestly that he has come to regard it as an absolute fact; but, be that as it may, he talks with the man-ner of one who knows what he is speaking of and believes in it firmly.

"I do not believe that Myers will ever hang," he said, speaking of the case. "He is innocent of the erime that is charged against him, and I do not believe that the Almighty will permit a guilty man to escape and let an innocent one pay the pen-

"Do you think that you will get a new trial for your client?" was asked. "I certainly do," replied Mr. Moyers. "I believe that the supreme court will take the proper view of the last trial, and will give us the new trial that we should have,

I do not care to say now just what our specific grounds will be, but they will be made known at the proper time." With a Spirit of Confidence. Myers has that same confidence that is expressed in the words of his attorney, Mr. W. T. Moyers—the man who, almost single-handed, has fought the case in its every The young man still refuses, under the instructions of his attorney, to talk of his case to newspaper men, but on his way to jail yesterday from the courthouse he spoke to one of the bailiffs in charge.

"Yes," replied Myers quickly. "My attorneys will get me one, for they said they

Then, according to those in charge of him, Myers chatted and laughed about other matters. More and more each day his conduct is becoming a greater puzzle and less easy of comprehension. When he returned to his cell he took up the routine just where he left it off when he went to court to be sentenced. If he discusses his trial at all it is with Chisolm, who is his constant attendant, though on the outside of his cell.

The Dead Body of an Unknown White Man Discovered.

WAS THE DEAD MAN JOHN SMITHP

The Body Had Been in the Water for Many Days, and There Was a Bullet Hole in the Head-Coroner Notified.

Lying on the muddy bottom of the Chattahoochee, the body of an unknown white man was discovered yesterday by a party of fishermen.

The body was badly decomposed, and from all appearances it had been in the water for many days, possibly weeks. The mud of the stream had almost hidden the body from view, and it was by the merest chance that it was found.

The find was made at Pumpkintown ferry, about seventeen miles below the Chattahoochee brick camps, and about five miles below Campbelltown ferry. A party of fishermen were seining the river, and as one of the crowd stooped to disengage the net, which had become entangled in the water, the body was discovered.

In a short time a large crowd had gath ered. No one knew the man, and it would have been a difficult matter to have identified the unfortunate victim, as the features were almost totally destroyed by the action of the water. Coroner Mitchell, of Douglas county, was notified, and an inquest will be held this morning. The entire neighborhood is in tensely excited, and many theories as the identity of the man have been advanced. No one is missing in that locality, and the opinion is that the dead man possibly the missing money lender of this city, John S. Smith.

The body had not been identified last night, and the mystery has not been solved. Upon an examination, a bullet hole was found just over the right eye, and it is apparent that the man was shot and then thrown into the river, where it was supposed that the secret would be safe. Is It Smith?

As soon as the crowd assembled, many were of the opinion that the dead man was John S. Smith, the missing money lender who disappeared from this city more than a month ago.

The body showed that it had been in the water at least this length of time. The bullet that was fired into the man's brain, no doubt, caused instant death, and into the muddy stream the body was cast to hide the deed.

The place where the find was made is just the spot that would be selected for the accomplishing of a foul deed. The water of the stream is very muddy, and anything consigned to the dark keeping of the river would certainly seem to be safe from all discovery. The place is safe from all discovery. The place is secluded, and the swamp dense and thick. No one ever approaches the spot except fishermen.

It will be remembered that John Smith left this c'ty under mysterious circum-stances, and, though the most careful search was made by the detectives and the description of the man sent broadcast no trace has ever been discovered.

For a time it was supposed that the body of Smith would be found in the waterworks lake, and that body of water was dragged, but without resulting in finding any clew. It was the opinion of the missing man's family that he had been foully dealt with, and they have clung to that theory all the while.

Across the country, it is only about eighteen miles to Pumpkintown ferry from this city, and, as it has been reported that Smith left on an East Tennessee train going west, the theory advanced by the fishermen is very plausible indeed. The fishermen is very plausible indeed. The news of the find has spread like wild fire in the community in which it occurred, and scores of people have visited the place where the body was placed upon the banks. The fact that no one knows the man proves that he was a stranger in that cality, and goes to strengthen the theory that it may be the body of John Smith.

The Coroner Goes to the Scene. As soon as the body was discovered, Coroner Mitchell, of Douglas county, was notified, and he at once repaired to the scene. As the place is far remote from a telegraph station, and there is no means of communication, the result of the findoner's jury could not be as certained. certained. It was very late when the coroner started for the scene, and no news was received as to what the verdict was.

The Sun reporter has become convinced from extensive observations in the southern states since last November that there are a great many Afro-Americans in the south Atlantic and gulf states who ought to be in Africa. They are, a weight upon the necks of those members of their race who are proving themselves equal to the new conditions of freedom, opportunity, self-restraint and self-respect, who don't propose to go to Africa because they are doing well enough in the United States. They are being ground to powder in the new industrialism of the south; in Africa they would relarse into barbarism. Nearly a thousand people went out to the ball park yesterday afternoon to see the first of the series with Memphis. And they all saw one of the most desperate slugging matches the season has It was the first time the Memphis team has been here since the change in manage-ment and Charley Frank was given quite an ovation as he came upon the grounds. All of the old players, too, were present and they were all in good condition. The game, however, was a walk-over for Atlanta and was enjoyed by the great stantly clashing and the fielders Manager Frank has were quite well worn with the sprinting they put up during the game. Manager Frank demonstrated the fact himself that he knew how to get over the ground and was never satisfied unless chasing after some of the long drives some of Knowles's men sent his way.

Horner went into the box for Atlanta and pitched a fine article of ball. He was given excellent support, too, and at the end of the fourth inning so well in hand did Menacer Knowles have the game that he took Horner out and put Norton in. The Atlanta— ab. r. bh.

IN THE LOCAL FIELD.

-Tom Rollinson was arraigned in the recorder's court yesterday morning, charged with disorderly conduct, and was fined $15.75 for the offense by Acting Recorder Councilman Inman.

—Councilman Hugh Inman presided over the city police court yesterday, and during its session he set a precedent that, if adhered to by his successors on the bench, will create consternation among the habitues and regular patrons of that famous institution of justice. Mr. Inman assessed a number of fines of the amount of $2.75 and costs, which could not be understood by the array of unfortunates, it being difficult to explain to them that their fines were $2.75 in addition to the 75 cents cost of each case. Heretofore the fines assessed have run in round numbers ranging -Councilman Hugh Inman presided cost of each case. Helectory seems of have run in round numbers ranging from $1 up. Turnkey Cooper, of the morning watch, who has been absent from the city for several days on a vacation, returned yesterday and took up his duties at the station house last night. MARRYING ON THE QUIET. Two Young Men in Chattanooga Give Their Friends a Surprise.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 1 .- (Special.)-All the newspaper men in Chattanooga are trying to marry. Salaries remain below zero but it is no longer fashionable to be single. Therefore they are all anxious to get in the swim of the matrimonial rea, regardless of expense. Gus Ragsdale, G. Edward Hatcher and N. B. Humphrey have been disappointed in love, but Henry Warner and Reaves Wood are in the seventh heaven of happiness. Mr. Warner is on the reportorial staff of The Times. He married Miss Mary Gahagan last night at the residence of her father, A. J. Gahagan, and deserted his bohemian apartments to-day for a luxurious home with his fatherin-law. Nobody knew he was going to do it, and everybody was surprised this morn-

But the biggest surprise came this af ternoon when it was announced in the afternoon papers that Reaves Wood, for merly operator for the Southern Asso ciated Press in Atlanta, but now with the Associated Press in Chattanooga, was wedded to Miss Nell Stewart. The wedding was secret. It took place two weeks ago, on June 17th. Miss Stewart is a dashing brunette beauty, and is said to be an heir ess to considerable money and property. All of the contracting parties are young Both of the young men are under twenty and both of the beautiful brides just sixteen. There are only a few single fellows left in the profession here. They are patiently awaiting a good thing. INDIANA'S LIQUOR RESTRICTION. Nicholson Temperance Law Went In-

Indianapolis, Ind., July 1.—The Nicholson temperance act became a law today by proclamation of the governor. In some parts of the state a disposition to resist the provisions of the law is reported, but the Brewers' Association has advised sa-loon keepers to observe the law until the supreme court has passed on it. The law places all saloons on the ground floor, abolishes all musical features and separates a saloon from any other business, takes down the screens and defeats a license application on the petition of a majority of the residents of the ward.

False Statements and Misrep resentations. Corruption does not exist in politics alone.

The time was when people were shocked to hear that such conditions prevailed in politics, but worse than all else is the fact that this evil should be carried into the drug business and the sick be made to suffer in consequence thereof. For various reasons dealers allow themselves to be per-suaded to stock up medicines of all sorts to be sold to the sick on the representation that they are just the same as Simmon Liver Regulator. A greater outrage has not been perpetrated upon the people. This has been the experience of many who have been duped by these false statements. Take only the old friend, Simmons Liver Regulator, with the red Z on every package, and you'll get the medicine that did the old folks so much good in bygone days. Wat It Means.

There are no doubt some very clever and honest people who believe that if we let things remain as they are the money question will be settled. We hear a great many say that times are getting better, and that the improvement of business in many lines is an evidence that the British gold standard is not such a serious thing after all.

The view that gives rise to such arguments is essentially a shallow one. Whether the people carry the day and restore silver as a part of the standard money of the country, or whether the shylock class succeed in heading off the silver movement, the money question will not be settled. It is yet to be settled, and this is a matter for the future. In any event, matters cannot remain as they are. There must be a change. If the people think the British gold standard is a good thing and are willing to make it permanent, they will have to go a great deal further along the road to currency contraction than they have yet gone. The greenbacks and the Sherman notes of 1890-issued to purchase silver, but made redeemable in gold by Mr. Cleveland's treasury ruling-will have to be retired. That much is certain. The single gold standard will not bear the strain of our present enormous volume of paper money. The volume is not too large for the needs of the people; indeed, it is not large enough; but it is entirely too large for the hundred millions of gold which is all that we have available for redemption purposes. Consequently, the greenbacks and the treasury notes which were issued under the law of 1890 will have to be retired and cancelled. This will be a serious contraction of the currency, and it will injuriously affect val ues and prices, but the people will have to stand it if they propose to indorse the British gold standard. There is no help for it and no escape from it. We are not conjuring up imaginary troubles. That the goldbugs do not propose to let the currency question remain where it is, we have ample evidence. The so-called "Baltimore plan" was an illumination of the purposes and desires of the banking fraternity. Mr. Cleveland's last message to congress suggested the retirement of the greenbacks and presently, if the silver movement is defeated by the machinations of shylock , and the money power, we shall see the scheme of greenback retirement take definite shape. All those who are opposed to the free coinage of silver will be in favor of it, and their position will be perfectly logical. If we are to have the single gold standard-if the mints are to remain closed to silver-the greenbacks and the treasury notes should be promptly retired. The people and the people's interests will be hurt by it, but if they are going to indorse the single gold standard they will have to take the whole dose with all its trimmings. With gold monometallism, we shall assuredly have to cut down our paper currency to fit our stock of redemption money. There is no escape from it.

Of course, we hope and believe that the people will rise superior to the plottings of the money power and restore silver as a part of our money of redemption, but if the movement fails and gold monometallism wins a victory our paper currency will have to be reduced to fit our small stock of redemption money. Such a reduction will be absolutely necessary, and opposition to it would be illogical and ridiculous. We observe that some of the cuckoos are beating the bushes in favor of state banks of issue, but it would be absurd to retire the greenbacks and treasury notes and substitute state bank notes. What would such notes be redeemable in? Not in gold, certainly, for the goldbug demand for the retirement of the government notes is logically based on the claim that there is not enough gold in which to redeem them. The Constitution is in favor of state banks of issue, but it wants the notes of these institutions to be sound and redeemable. Otherwise the people will be made the victims of a swindle. No; we cannot have state banks of issue under the single gold standard. Nor can we have greenbacks and treasury notes. We can only have a limited supply of national bank notes issued only by the banks that are able to keep on hand a sufficient amount of redemption money. The point we desire to impress on the minds of the people is that if the British gold standard is made permanent, there will have to be vast changes in our currency system to fit it. There will have to be a contraction of our Contraction and Life Insurance.

Speaking of the low rates now charged n the great centers for money loaned on first-class collateral, The New Orleans Times-Democrat declares that an inadequate supply of primary money is represented in stagnant trade and low rates of interest, while an abundant supply always produces the reverse conditions. When the volume of primary money is contracted prices always fall, and the burden of every fixed charge is fastened upon the producing classes. Our contemporary says:

The vast majority of the agricultural, mercantile and industrial classes are, from the very necessities of the case, borrowers of money. No business can be either sound or profitable that does not justify a careful man in using his credit in a onservative way.

For the last twenty-two years the tendency of the general level of commodity prices, as expressed in Sauerbeck's table of index numbers, has been steadily down-ward. Therefore, every agriculturist, merward. Therefore, every agriculturist, mer-chant or manufacturer who, during this melancholy period, has been a borrower of try in order to pay his debts. Millions of men have been bankrupted in this terrible process, and capitalists have, in conse-quence, lost untold sums simply because their debtors could not create something out of nothing.

As the net result of twenty years of the "grinding process" which Mr. Carlisle so eloquently described when he spoke for the masses instead of the classes, we have arrived at a time when the agriculturist, merchant or manufacturer who is still solvent, and has good collateral to offer, has learned the bitter lesson of experience and refuses to go in debt. The capitalist has learned his lesson, too; he will not put out his money except on gilt-edged security. As the man with the securities if afraid to borrow, the capitalist must either leave his money in bank, or buy gilt-edged stocks at prices which yield a merely nominal return.

The falling rates of interest do, in truth, but express the fact that, in the existing condition of things, the capitalist's money acquires increased purchasing power while in possession of the borrower, and this increase in purchasing power makes up the normal rate of interest. In times of rising prices, the capitalist's money loses in pur-chasing power while in the borrower's possession, and when you subtract from the nominal rate of interest the allowance for the decreased purchasing power of the poney when it is repaid, there will remain but the normal rate. That is the simple reason why rates of interest are low in times of falling commodity prices, and high when prices are rising. This is very clearly stated and the experience of our business men and producers during the past twenty years will confirm it. The falling rates of interest will soon put people with fixed incomes in the same boat with the wage earners. In England, The Spectator says the moneyed classes are alarmed because the refunding of public and corporate debts will reach a point that will prevent anybody but millionaires from living upon their incomes from investments.

The Times-Democrat fears that these unfavorable conditions will injure the life insurance companies which hold countless millions in trust and which we countless millions of obligations from generation to generation. Here is the way it puts the case: The principle of life insurance is simply the principle of compound interest, and steadily falling rates of interest must affect life insurance companies just as steadily falling commodity prices affect the farmer, the merchant and the manufact-urer. The process is slower, because the life insurance company's obligations have a more distant maturity-but the result is none the less melancholy and inevitable. At the present time the insurance departments compute the companies' reserves on the basis of 4 per cent per annum comon the basis of 4 per cent per annum com-pound interest. If the rate at which money can be lent on perfect security should swiftly fall to 2 per cent, as now seems probable, it would bankrupt every life in-surance company in the world. For this reason every holder of a life insurance polby should be a bimetallist, since bimetallism alone can put an end to the "grinding process" which threatens the stability, nay the very existence, of the social fabric. It is to be hoped that this phase of the question will be studied. The prospect of the failure of the world's life insurance companies under the single gold standard is not an agreeable one.

Presidential Longevity.

From some recent life insurance statistics it appears that the presidential office is a fatal one.

At Washington's inauguration his expectation of life, according to the insurance tables, was sixteen years, but he lived only ten years. The next seven presidents not only lived out their exectation of life, but the two Adamses. efferson, Madison, Jackson, Van Buren and Tyler exceeded it.

But Harrison fell nine years short of his expectation of life. Polk seventeen, Taylor eleven, Pierce seven, Lincoln sixteen, Johnson seven, Grant seven, Hayes three, Garfield twenty-two and Arthur fifteen. It is true that Lincoln and Garfield were assassinated, but the assassination of a president should always be taken into account as a possibility.

Our first eight presidents exceeded their expectation of life forty-five years in the aggregate, while their successors fell 110 years short. This may seem strange when it is recollected that the length of human life has steadily increased during the century. The compiler of these statistics suggests an explanation. He says:

The fact seems plain to me that the presidential office is becoming too heavy a burden for any man to assume with almost certain shortening of his life. T responsibility is so great, the tension so destructive, that I never again expect to see a president survive the full period of natural expectation.

Evidently the presidential office is a dangerous one, but very few of our patriotic statesmen will ever decline it on that account.

A Water War.

Unless there is a speedy change in the situation, the excited citizens of Denver may be tempted to lynch several of their officials.

The trouble grows out of high water rates. It seems that the aldermen have passed an ordinance reducing water rates 15 per cent, and providing for a fixed rate for the next fifteen years. The people demand a reduction to the werage of the rates charged in Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati. The new water company has been given the right of way through the principal streets paper currency to fit the small stock of against the protests of the property grapery. From 20,000 to 50,000 native owners, and there is some talk of mobthe leading members of the con pany. The aldermen asked for squads of police to guard their homes the other night, but their request was refused. They then applied to the water company for protection, and all went home with an armed escort. The following night the aldermen slept at the houses of their friends, in order to avoid the expected mob. One of the officials is nnder guard at the Palace hotel.

Never in the history of the country was there such a row over water rates, and the end is not yet. If something is not done to pacify the people there may be bloodshed. The Kansas City Star comments on the incident as follows:

The people of Denver have been shamefully betrayed by their city council, but they themselves are not wholly without blame. The disgraceful incident of Thursday night day night was made possible by a system of local politics which is by no means peculiar to Denver, but which prevails in most of the cities of America. The respectable element in those communities which suffer from municipal corruption permit a lot of jackleg politicians to form councils of their own choosing, and corruption and disregard of the public weal tion and disregard of the public weather low as a matter of course. If the Denver council had been composed of men who valued their reputations and who had a high standing to maintain, there would have been no call for any such demonstration as the angry citizens made in defense of their rights. The whole trouble goes back to the laxity of good citizenship failure of voters who appreciate the value of scandal which has brought Denver into such unenviable prominence is to reverse the entire plan of municipal government in this country, and to intrust the man-agement of public affairs to honest men instead of spoilsmen and boodlers. That is much more rational method of solving the problem than to make a rule of electing shysters to office and then talk of lynching them when they carry out in their public acts the principles which govern on the right line. If people will persist in electing bad rulers they must expect bad government.

Going Backward.

Between 1850 and 1860 the growth of our foreign trade was phenomenal. In 1850 Webster wrote: "The navigation and commerce of the United States are hardly excelled by the oldest and most commercial nation." Clayton called attention in 1854 to the fact that we had "acquired a degree of skill in the construction of ships unequaled by any other nation." In 1856 Buchanan said: "Our commerce now covers every ocean; our mercantile marine is the largest in the world." As late as 1860 Alexander H. Stephens said in a speech before the Georgia legislature: "We have now an amount of shipping, not only coastwise, but to foreign countries, which puts us in the front rank of the nations of the world. England can no longer be styled the mistress of the seas."

Thirty-five years later what do we see? Nearly all the vessels plying between our ports and other countries have foreign owners and sail under European flags. Our mercantile marine has disappeared, and England again rules the waves.

For a generation past our statesmen have neglected all the interests of our foreign trade, and the Atlanta exposition is the only notable effort that has been made to revive it from 1860 down to the present time. We must reach out for foreign trade and build our own ships or we may expect to see a return of high protection, and the confinement of our traffic to the home markets. What we need is to get back to the policy which prevailed for ten years

Emperor William on Americans.

When he visited the New York at Kiel the kaiser made himself very pleasant. He expressed his admiration for our navy, praised our indomitable spirit and frequently spoke of the "gallant Americans."

In saying these complimentary things about us William was really paying a tribute to the German people. Our English ancestors were of the Teutonic race very largely, and probably 20,000,000 of our population are of German birth, or are the children and grandchildren of Germans. The German emperor's countrymen and their descendants stand in the front rank of the "gallant Americans." It would be impossible to estimate what we owe to the Germans who have aided us in building up the republic. They have left their impress upon our laws, our literature and our institutions. They have made the great west bloom like a garden. They are among the most liberal, progressive, noral and law-abiding of our people.

It is no wonder, then, that William thinks highly of the Americans, for he finds among them mulions of men who belong to his own race. If the kaiser could be induced to visit this country he would see a new Germany in the middle west-just such a Germany as he might see at home if he would modify his paternal ideas and become more democratic. Perhaps in the course of time the young ruler may travel this road.

A New England Farm.

Dr. William Seward Webb, the New York railway magnate, has a farm at Shelburne, Vt., which is undoubtedly one of the most magnificent in America. The farm is a peninisula of 4,000 acres extending into Lake Champlain, with seven miles of coast line. Dr. Webb has spent over $1,000,000 in improving his property, and it is now a model estate. He pulled down barns to build larger ones, removed farm houses, leveled orchards and groves to plant new ones, tore up old roads to give place to fine highways, and in short he did every. thing that could make the place more picturesque and valuable. His residence is in the colonial style. It contains 150 rooms, all elegantly furnished, the halls and stairways in oak, drawing room in white and gold, and each suite different in finish and furnishings. There is a reservoir on the farm filled from the lake and seven miles of iron pipe supply every square inch of ground. The greenhouse cost $20,000. It contains ornamental alamandas from India, palms from India and Brazil, and five specimens of ericas, kentias and latanias. Great space is given to gardenias, carnations, violets and roses. In connection with the greenhouse is a large and foreign trees and shrubs have been planted each year since 1887, including white and Colorado spruces, ten diferent varieties of pines, maples, elms, birches and oaks. There are also orchards of plums, pears and apples. A cedar cover has been grown for the English pheasants imported in 1891, which have multiplied rapidly enough to afford good shooting. North Carolina quail and all varieties of domestic fowls abound. The doctor originally imported a small flock of Southdowns, which have increased to nearly 200. The dairy costing $85,000 is supplied by seventy-five fine cows of various breeds. The barns are built of stone and wood. One farm contains the office in which is transacted the business of the farm. It is connected by telephone with all parts of the estate. Then there are repair and blacksmith shops and a grain elevator run by steam. The capacity of the hay loft is 2,000 tons, and of the straw loft 1,000 tons. There is also a complete fire department. In the offices there are bookkeepers who record every fact of interest and meteorological reports are taken three times a day. There are 200 employes all the year round and their annual pay roll is $30,000. In the summer extra hands are employed. Dr. Webb's stables contain 400 horses, hackneys, thoroughbreds, standards, French coachers and ponies. His best horses are housed in a breeding barn of stone and wood 418x107 feet. It is the height of a four-story building and is the largest barn in the world, having an exercising ring in the middle 375 feet long and eighty-five feet wide. The interior is illuminated by electric lights.

In the harbor during the summer may be seen the doctor's fine steam yacht, besides smaller craft of every description. Altogether, it is a princely estate, well calculated to astonish those who are under the impression that Vermont is a state of small and sterile farms. But does the owner make a profit out of-his farming? On this point nothing has appeared in print. Perhaps the farm is run at a dead loss simply to gratify a rich man's fancy.

The Baltimore Sun goes into ecstacies over the Wilson tariff bill. Nevertheless the Wilson tariff bill was buried in the senate and Mr. Cleveland refused to sign the bill that was substituted for it. But both measures were highly protective, and the bill that became a law is a downright repudiation of the Chicago platform.

The Washington Post is worrying son over "our written constitution." Maybe this sert of thing accounts for the warm weather.

Mr. Rosebery appears to be a good deal older and feebler than Mr. Gladstone.

The news from Cuba seems to have been Tampa'd with.

Between 1860 and 1870 the abolition of slavery destroyed a nominal wealth of a quarter of a billion dollars; during the same period the northern states gained enormously in wealth, by the establishment of many new industries.

In 1850 the total wealth of this country was $7,136,000,000, about $308 per capita; in 1860 it had risen to $16,160,000,000, or about $514 per head; in 1870 it was $30,069,000,000, or about $780 per head; in 1880 it had risen to $43,642,000,000, or $870 per head, and in 1890 to $82,600,000,000, or $1,000 per head. Here is Huxley's definition of a liberal education: "That man," said he, "has a liberal education who has been so trained in youth that his body is the ready servant of his will, and does with ease and pleas-ure all the work that, as a mechanism, it is capable of; whose intellect is a clear, cold logic-engine, with all its parts of equal strength and in smooth working or-der, ready, like a steam engine, to be turn-ed to any kind of work, and spin the gossamers as well as forge the anchors of his mind; whose mind is stored with a knowledge of the great and fundamental truths of nature and of the laws of he perations; one who, no stunted ascetic, full of life and fire, but whose passions are trained to come to halt by a vigorous will, the servant of a tender conscience; who has learned to love beauty, whether of nature or of art, to hate all vileness, and to respect others as himself. SILVER IN GEORGIA.

Covington Star: Men become desperate Covinston Star: Men become desperate from long suffering-from empty stomachs and depleted purses; from depressed business and shrinkage of values; from seeing the current of wealth flowing into the coffers of the few growing broader and stronger each day, while the poverty of the masses becomes more pinching and distressing as the greed of the shylock drains their substance deeper and deeper.

What will become of the goldbug democrats in Georgia? As they can't fuse with the sliver democrats nor populists, where will they go?

Cuthbert Liberal: What are those gold-bug editors who persist in calling the silverties populists going to do about the "sound money" combine recently formed in Alabama? When "sound money" democrats form a combination with republicans to defeat silver, it seems that there is not much democracy in the goldbug ranks.

Despite the fact that less than 130 vo were cast at the election of officers for th Chamber of Commerce yesterday the rac between the two candidates for the pres dency was a warm one from start t

The ballots were deposited in a li brown box that sat in a dignified fashion a table in the office of Mr. H. G. Sau ders, the secretary of the Chamber of Com merce. It was presided over by Mr. San ders, his assistant and Mr. G. B. Everett.

IT WAS LONG DRAWN

A Session of the General Council Held Yesterday Afternoon,

THERE WERE SEVERAL ELECTIONS

One or Two Old Officeholders Are Beat-Out-A New Office Is Created. The Pay.

The general council spent two hours in making new city officials yesterday after-

The chamber was thronged with people who were interested in the result of the elections to take place long before Mayor Pro Tem. Broyles called the body to order. Hon. Park Woodward, ex-city clerk, was at the clerk's desk, but the face of Mr. Charles Rice, that excellent deputy, was missing from the working post for the first time in years. In front of that desk at which Mr. Rice worked so long were two chairs instead of one, and in one of them sat Mr. J. W. Phillips, the new clerk, while the other was occupied by his deputy, Mr. George Forbes. They were both attentive watchers and listeners and before the session was over both knew lots more about the workings of a city clerk than ever be-

To the roll call there was a response from every member of the body and as the last member, Mr. Nelms, of the seventh, responded, Mr. Hirsch secured the floor, say-

'I move, your honor, that we suspend the rules and go into the election of the officers cheduled for this afternoon. I see the mayor is here and the sooner we get at it the better it will be for us all."

The motion prevailed and as Mayor Pro Tem. Broyles left the chair for a seat on the floor Mayor King took the chair and called for nominations for recorder, Mr. Nelms was recognized though several members arose for the purpose of presenting a candidate.

Andy Calhoun Named.

"I know, your honor," said Mr. Nelms. "what these gentlemen who tried to secure the attention of the chair wanted. They all vanted to place in nomination for the place of recorder the same gentleman I shall name. He is one of the best qualified and best equipped men in the city for the arduus work that is required, and we should elect him and I think without opposition, I refer to the Hon, Andy Calhoun, who is now corder and whose administration has never been beaten in the history of Atlanta." Quite a number of the members had a complimentary word to say about Judge Calhoun, as they seconded the nomination. The clerk made the roll call and every one of the nineteen votes was recorded for Judge Calhoun.

"The next on the list," said the mayor, "is the election of two tax assessors. The terms of Mr. Meador and Mr. Malone expire and the election of their successors is now in order. How will you have the election? One

Mr. Tolbert moved that both assessors be Mr. Harman placed in nomination Charles Meador, who has been in the office for many years, and in doing so paid him a nice comliment on account of his good work.

"And I desire," said Mr. Colvin, "to place efore this body the name of one of the oldest employes of the city government. He has been tried in many places and has never yet been found wanting. I mean Mr. Tcm Malone, who is now in the assessor's omee as one of the three assessors."

A New Name Put Forward. "If they are all done," said Mr. Howell, "I would like to name a man who is most eminently fitted for the place. It is Mr. Gaires Chisholm, one of the best equipped men in the city for the place.'

The nominations closed and the voting began. There was but one ballot, and it sulted in the election of Mr. Meador and Mr. Chisholm. The vote stood: Meador 16, Chisholm 12, Malone 10. Mayor King declar-ed Messrs. Meador and Chisholm elected city assessors for the next two years, and then sked for nominations for chief of the Naming Ward Physicians. "There are seven ward physicians to elect," said the mayor, "one from each ward. The chair will now hear nominations for physician for the first ward."

Dr. Anderson, Dr. Brilwell and Dr. Greene
were placed before the meeting and the roll were placed before the meeting and the road call was started. It proved to be one of the ost stubborn contests that has been on in the general council in a long time. Eleven ballots were required to settle the contest and then it resulted in the election of Dr. Greene, who has held the position for a long time. The first roll call gave Greene 8, An-derson 6 and Bridwell 5. Several times one of the three candidates was within one vote of election, but somehow he could never get over the nine votes—just one less than necessary to win.

move," said Mr. Harman, after the "I move," said Mr. Harman, atter the ninth roll call, "that we now pass the first ward for the present and go on to some other ward, as it looks like we will never agree. Mr. Camp strongly opposed leaving the vote, and declared that he would stay there as long as there was a candidate in the as long as there was a candidate in the first ward for whom to vote. The tenth call did not show any material change, and the clerk started on the eleventh. Before he had left the board of aldermen two or three changes to Greene were observed and that gave the doctor's friends in the council nerve to stand nat. The call showed that gave the doctor's friends in the coun-cil nerve to stand pat. The call showed that Dr. Greene had won by a close count. He got ten votes while Dr. Bridweil got eight and Dr. Anderson one.

Dr. Van Goldtsnoven Beaten. The second ward showed quite a surprise to all who were not on the inside. In that ward Dr. E. Van Goldtsnoven had been to all who were not on the inside. In that ward Dr. E. Van Goldtsnoven had been physician for years and has always been considered one of the best members of Atlanta's medical strength. He has been making the race for years without opposition and very few had any idea that he would have any opposition this time. His name was presented to the meeting by Mr. Welch, of the second. Mr. Day nominated Dr. E. W. Boyd, and the roll call started. It did not take long to show that Dr. Boyd was running a mighty rapid race and one that inight win. And it did win, for then he cesting up was done it was found that L. Van Goldtsnoven had received eight vota and that Dr. Boyd had polled eleven. Dr. W. C. Weirren was presented for reelection in the third by Mr. Dodge, while Mayor ro Tem. Broyles nominated Dr. T. E. Collie, who was physician for a long time in that ward. Dr. Warren was given fourteen votas and Dr. Cellies dive.

The race in the fourth was a close one and was work to a physician who was once before physician in that ward, but who was batten by Dr. Powell, it was Dr. Powell, too, who was defeated in the race yesterday, and it was done by Dr. M. C. Martin. Mr. Miller presented Dr. Powell's name, while Mr. Haralson nominated Dr. Martin. Dr. Martin got ten votes, while his opponent took the other nine.

There were four candidates in the fifth, but only three of them got votes. Dr. E. Y. Pierce, Dr. Allen Johnson, Dr. A. L. Harris and Dr. J. V. M. Cain were named as the candidates, Dr. Pierce got three votes, Dr. Johnson fifteen, and Dr. Cain one.

Dr. N. O. Harris in the sixth ward had no opposition and went right back into the place for two years quite nicely.

Dr. Campbell was presented by Mr. Nelms, of the seventh ward, and like Dr. Harris, had a walk-over.

Jackson, the janitor, was re-elected with-

An Assistant Attorney Named. "Now the city attorney can notify you of the appointment he has made as his assistant," said the mayor. "Here is a communication from the city attorney," said the clerk taking a letter

Marshal Humphreys sent in a letter saying that he had appointed as his deputies A. Dittler and J. J. Tolbert, while the new clerk gave the council Captain George B. Forbes and Mr. Tom Buchanan as his deputies. The general council had nothing to do with these selections and the announcements were made only for the information of the body.

The ordinance creating the office of build-ing inspector and containing the new code of building laws for the city was presented by the board of firemasters, which has been working on it for over four years. The code, shows just how all classes of buildings in the city shall be constructed and defines the duties of the building in-spector, fixing his salary at $1,800 a year. In the past Atlanta has had three building inspectors, who have given their time to the city only when it was cenanded and required, and who have been paid $200 to year each. The law calls for the election of the inspector at the first meeting in July every other year, and the mayor had called the attention of the council to it when the paper was sent up by the board of fire-

"Twelve hundred dollars," replied Mr. Howell; "then he must furnish his own buggy and give his entire time to the "Well, I'd like to know where you are going to get the money to pay the salary," said Mr. Inman. "For the life of me I can't see where it is to come from. It seems anyhow that we are out now making too many new offices, and it looks like we are making them just for some one to fill." Mr. Inman, or any one else, wor give this question the requisite amount of study, he would see that that code of build-ing laws is the best thing in the world for Atlanta. There is not a town the size of Atlanta anywhere in the world that has not a code of good building laws and a competent building inspector. I can't help if some people do think we are making new offices for some one else. If we can get this through we will have accomplished enough good to let them say what they

When I came into this body," said Mr. Miller, "I found that ordinance here, and at first was opposed to it; but the more I have

Mr. Howell suggested that the election of Mr. Howell suggested that the election of the officer be put off until January, when the finance committee would be able to provide the money for the salary, but Mr. Broyles opposed any postponement.

Mr. Harman advocated the adoption of the ordinance, declaring that he had studied the matter enough to know that the

John A. Corbally, M. W. I.and, Frank A. Pittman, George LeSueur, Hugh Ang er and Frank X. Billey were nominated. A large delegation of ladies entered the council chamber, and were, upon motion of Mr. Hirsch, invited to address the tcdy. Mrs. Whiteside and Mrs. McLendon did the talking, and interesting it was. Point of them had excellently prepared papers, and both papers were prayers to the council to provide a matron at police headquarters. Both recited the condition of affairs there now, as they are without a matron to care for women prisoners. The papers were NEW ASSISTANT CITY ATTORNEY.

They Don't Want It So.

The 17th of last month the general council granted the Woodward Lumber Company, D. Woodward, president, the right to build a sidetrack across Murphey avenue in the seventh ward. The paper was made complete by securing the signature of the mayor, and since the ink dried on the paper some work has been done on the grant.

But it appears that there are people living But it appears that there are people living in the seventh ward who do not like the new track and are not at all anxious to have the new lumber mill go up near them. Represented by Mr. G. A. Howell, quite a delegation came before the council requesting that body to rescind its former action and give the objectors an oppor-tunity to be heard.

Mr. Howell thought that it would be nothing but right to reconsider the action of the council and give the gentlemen represented by Mr. Howell an opportunity to heard before the committee. "I would like to ask the city attorey," said Mr. Hirsch, "what effect our recon-sideration would have in the event Mr. Woodward has gone ahead and done some work under the grant we have given him. Wouldn't the city be liable to the extent cf the work done, or maybe damages, to Mr.

Assistant City Attorney Westmoreland did not think that the city would be liable. Mr. Howell urged that the matter be reopened again so that those who did not like it could be heard, while Mr. Carter opposed touching the question again, claiming that the grant had once been made and that the city had no right to interfere, especially as Mr. Woodward had gone ahead with his work, which was costing him money every day and which had cost him quite a little sum already. He declared that the city attorney was wrong when he said that the city would not be responsible for any damages. Mr. Carter showed that Mr. Woodward contemplated putting in a big mill there and that it would give employment to a large number of men. Mr. Nelms wanted the matter repealed so that both sides might be heard. On the mction to repeal the former action the ayes and nays were requested and resulted 5 for it and 13 against it.

A petition from the people living in that section opposing the grant which had been made was read, and upon motion of Mr. Harman, was referred to the street committee, before whom both sides can go

Water for the Exposition. Judge Hillyer, president of the water board, handed in a paper showing the prog-ress between the city and the exposition company for water on the exposition grounds and for the filling of the large iske. The papers gave a complete history of the transaction. Mr. Howell thought that the trade should be made so that the exposition company could get all the water needed for its lake and for any other purposes and moved that the entire matter be referred to the city attorney, the city engineer and the chair-man of the board of water commissioners.

That Venable Opinion. "Now, if I may be heard," said Mr. Nelms, "I move that we take from the table the motion placing on the table the opinion of the city attorney relative to Mr. Venable's eligibility. I do so in order that we may have that opinion read." "But the city attorney isn't here," re-

The finance committee reported the amount of bonds, the date of the issue and the character of the bonds which had een destroyed since the last meeting of the body. The same committee declined to al-low Mr. Joseph T. Orme city treasurer, to bond himself in a guaranty company. Mr. Campbell, chairman of the sanitary mittee, showed that the time for test ing the crematory as was agreed upon when it was contracted for had expired and that i: was now time for the city to accept the machine and pay for it as provided for in the contract or to say that the crematory was not suitable and thereby deny trade. The chief sanitary inspector and the members of the board of health indorsed the work the crematory had done and the report was accepted.

An ordinance authorizing the paving of Butler street at an estimated cost of $5,340 was read the second time and adopted.

The tax committee presented a report on the petition of the Woodward Lumber Company, D. Woodward, president, for exemption from taxation for fifteen years on account of being manufacturers. LEAGUERS HERE.

Delegates in the City.

THEY CAME DOWN FROM CHATTANOOGA

Visited the Exposition Grounds and Other Points of Interest Yesterdsy-En joyed Their Visit.

Gayly bedecked with their bright colored ribbon badges, about one hundred delegates to the Chattanooga convention of the Epworth League, which adjourned Sunday night, arrived in Atlanta yesterday from that city, and during the day made themselves at home about the streets of the city.

It was a jolly crowd of people, most of them young, and they made the most of the opportunity to see and enjoy the sights of the city and vicinity.

More than one-half of the visitors were young ladies, and in their bright costumes and pretty badges they attracted considerable attention on the streets and in the different hotels. They seemed bent on having a good time, and early in the day they began to separate in parties of from three to ten in number and proceeded to take in the town "on their own hook," as one of the young ladies said. They visited all of the points of interest about the city during the day, and were unanimous in the opinion that Atlanta was well worth coming to see.

The leaguers left Chattanooga yesterday morning, the convention having adjourned the night before. Most of the visitors here yesterday were from remote sections of the country and Canada, and were people who had never been in the south before the assembling of the Chattanooga convention. They took advantage of the special rates offered by the railroads, and flocked in by the dozens.

Visited the Exposition Grounds. The principal object of the visit among the leaguers seemed to be to see the exposition, and nearly every one of them went out to the grounds during the day. They traweled in the cars, in carriages and afoot, all managing to see all the sights. The leaguers took in all the points of interest about the exposition grounds, in-specting the different buildings in course of construction, and when they returned to the city the visitors were enthusiastic, many of them declaring that they would return to Atlanta this fall and see the big show in full blast.

There was no formal programme for the day and no local reception, the leaguers coming to the city on their own account and as individuals, but, of course, many of them were taken charge of by local members of the Epworth League and shown about the city. They visited the parks and waterworks, hotels, the capitol, the Grady monument and many other points of interest, and were greatly pleased with the city and surroundings.

with the city and surroundings. Was a Big Gathering.

The second international conference of the Epworth League of the Methodist church, which has just adjourned at Chattanooga, was one of the largest and most successful gatherings of church people ever held in the south, and its entire session was harmonious, despite the wonderfully large attendance. The delegates in attendlarge attendance. The delegates in attendance represented every state and territory in the United States and every province in Canada, and the deliberations of the convention will result in material advancement of the organization throughout the two countries named. It was estimated that there were about 12,000 people in attendance at the convention, including the visitors, and the city of Chattanooga was taxed to its utmost capacity in accommodating that large number of strangers.

Hilmois Delegates Here.

Illinois Delegates Here. Prominent among the members of the league who visited Atlanta yesterday was Mr. M. C. Walton, of Lebanon, Ill., a prominent citizen of that city and state, and an enthusiastic worker in the cause of the Epworth League. He said that the convention which has just adjourned was probably the largest religious gathering ever held south of the Ohio river, and was one of the most harmonious. Mr. Walton and a party of friends were seen yesterday afternoon after returning from a visit to the exposition grounds, and when sked his impression of the city said that he had been most agreeably surprised, find-ing Atlanta a much larger and more metropolitan city than he had expected. Many Wanted To Come

"Yes, we are just from the adjourned convention of the Epworth League," said Mr. Walton, "and run down to Atlanta to see the city and the exposition. We have visited a number of your places of interest and have enjoyed our stay in the city very much. The convention was a success both numerically and in a deliberative sense. The attendance was the largest in the history of the organization, and much good wor was done. There was a large number of delegates in attendance at the convention who wanted to come to Atlanta, and many more would have come than did had the return tickets been extended long enough. We heard a great deal of Atlanta and your exposition while in Chattanooga, and could not think of returning home without visiting it. A large percentage of the visitors at Chattanooga who were unable to come to Atlanta at this time expect to return to south in the fall and take in the ex-

Mr. Walton and party left last night for their Illinois homes, as did the majority of the visitors. There are quite a number in the city, however, who will remain several days, they having been allowed a ten-days trip for one fare by the railroads. The visitors are are quartered at the hotels and boarding houses throughout the city.

The man claims to be paralyzed, and rides in a wagon like Franklin, the goat man. His wife says she expected to get work in some factory in the city.

JOSIAH'S GOLD SPEECH MR. WYNNE GOES IN

Have an Andience.

AND THEY BOUGHT THE HOUSE

The Chautauqua Doors Will Be Thrown Open on the Occasion of His Speech, and Thereby Hangs a Story.

Hon. Josiah Patterson, the Tenness atesman, sometimes irreverently called "Si," will be a distinguished exception among the attractions at the chautauqua

Mr. Patterson is the Fourth of July attraction at the Grand, and he is billed to come down day after tomorrow and tire off his sound money lecture to the chautauqua audience. He has a modest place in the prospectus of the chautauqua among the other lecturers and speakers. But for peculiar reasons the Tennessee apostle of gold has been singled out for exceptional

Among Mr. Patterson's claims to fame a seat in congress, the authorship of the Memphis gold convention and a red-hot advocacy of the gold standard. He has figured rather conspicuously in the latter role since the adjournment of congress placed a porary suspension upon his activities, In looking about for material for the chautauqua at the Grand this summer, Manager Shepard singled out the prominent apostle of gold from Tennessee. He made terms with him to appear at the Fourth of July matinee, at 4 o'clock, and talk on his favorite theme, "Gold." Congressman Patterson was advertised by the chautauqua in the same manner in which the other attractions were advertised and his coming seems to have occasioned a slight flutter in the gold contingent in

Yesterday it began to be whispered abou that a mysterious arrangement had beer made by which the public of Atlanta would be treated to Mr. Patterson's gold lecture free, although the other exercises would be charged for. The whisper became pretty general about town and all sorts of storics were builded upon it. It was told that the Reform Club from New York had decided to treat the public to Mr. Patterson's talk and had bought the house.

There were, as stated, all sorts of rumors Another rumor had it that a number of local bankers had made up a purse and bought the house for the evening from the management. A velled secrecy was kept over the entire matter and all the parties concerned were extremely reticent in talk-ing about it. It was very evident from the answers given to the numerous inquiries made that secrecy had been enjoined and that there was something like mystery in the agreement that had been reached.

Mr. E. M. Horine, treasurer of the Grand, knew only that the theater had been bought for the evening and that the doors would be thrown open to the public free

Mr. Shepard, the chautauqua manager, is sick at Indian Spring, and he could not be seen, but his business representative was found and interviewed. "Yes," he said, "it is true that the lecture of Mr. Patterson will be free. The doors will be opened to all comers and they are trying to get up a good crowd."

"Is it the chautanqua's treat?"
"No, sir; we are not paying it. I think the gold club here is getting it up. I don't know the names of all the gentlemen. They will pay it all and invite everybody though, because they are very anxious to have a big hearing for Mr. Patterson.

"They were very much afraid that Mr.
Patterson would not draw as a pay attraction. They decided to make it free. "Who is paying? Well, we have not been paid yet, but there's no trouble on that score. The money will be forthcoming all right. It has been guaranteed by a gentleman who is getting it up." "Mr. Henry Richardson, of The Journal made the arrangement. The Journal is tak ing the lead in it. Mr. Richardson conducted the arrangements for the house and the event will be thoroughly advertised. They hope to have a good crowd."

"And all of the expenses will be borne by outsiders?"

"Yes. We will have nothing to do with Mr. Patterson's lecture at all, except furnish the theater. They got us to change the time from 4 o'clock in the afternoon to 8 o'clock in the evening. They said they could get a better crowd at night. It will be fully advertised."

Thus it is that the Atlanta people will have the privilege of hearing Mr. Patterson without paying for it. It is a unique departure for a chautauqua, but one that the friends of Mr. Patterson felt to be necessary to get up a crowd of hearers for the Tennessee statesman.

THE DRAFT UNPAID.

L. Lenson Bought a Saloon and Gave a Bad Draft in Payment.

L. Lenson, a Decatur street saloon keeper, was arrested by Officers Beavers and Tysor yesterday afternoon, charged with cheating and swindling by W. O. McDon-

The charge seems to have grown out of a transaction between the men, in which Lenson purchased a saloon at 182 Decatur street and gave a draft on a New York party in payment. The draft was returned unpaid, and the helders swore out

Lenson says that he came to Atlanta last week for the purpose of entering business. He saw a saloon on Decatur street adver-tised for sale, and called on the owners at the above number. A deal was consum mated, by which Lenson was to pay $1,150 for the saloon and outfit, including stock on hand, $200 of which was to be paid monthly, the sellers to take a first mort-gage on the entire stock and fixtures to secure the notes given in payment. Lenson gave a draft on his brother, who he says lives in New York, for $150, that amount being the first and a cash payment. The trade was consummated one day last week and Lenson was given con-trol of the saloon and has been running it since that time. Yesterday the draft was returned from New York unpaid, and the varrant followed. Lenson says that his New York brother is a railroad man and was out of town when the draft reached that city, which explains its being returned unpaid, and that he offered to make it good by telethat he offered to make it good by telegraph had he been given an opportunity. He says that he has money in New York to back him in his venture, and that he will come out of the trouble all right today when the case is heard by Justice of the Peace Foute. He claims a violation of the contract by the sellers of the saloon, they agreeing to have the license transferred, which they had not done. He also claimed that there was a shortage in the goods he supposed he was buying.

Lenson was taken before Judge Foute yesterday afternoon, who set his case for a hearing at 3 o'clock this afternoon. He was detained in the custody of Bailiff R. F. Smith last night.

About One Hundred Epworth League His Atlanta Friends Afraid He Wouldn't Mr. Charles G. Wynne Succeeds Captain Amos Baker as Clerk.

JUDGE ANDY CALHOUN'S NEW BOWER

Appointed to the Office by City Clerk Phil lips-The Books and Papers Turned Over Yesterday Afternoon.

Atlanta has a new city recorder's clerk this morning.

Late yesterday afternoon Mr. Charles G. Wynne succeeded Captain Amos Baker in that position, he being appointed by Mr. J. W. Phillips, the new city clerk, who took the oath of office at y sterday afternoon's council meeting.

All of the books and papers belonging to the office in the hands of Captain Baker were transferred to Mr. Wynne yesterday afternoon, shortly after the day's session of the police court, and when the famous court for so long presided over by Judge Andy Calhoun meets today Mr. Wynne will sit at the desk and call the docket in place of the big-hearted captain of the At lanta Zouaves, who has been city recorder's clerk for more than a year.

The change in the position was one of considerable interest about the station

Was a Political Change.

Captain Baker was appointed to the office of clerk to the city recorder about a year ago, by City Clerk Park Woodward, who himself went out of office yesterday, being succeeded by Mr. Phillips. Mr. Phillips ap-pointed a new clerk, not because he was dissatisfied with the work of Captain Baker. Mr. Wynne is one of the best known and most popular young men about town, and he succeeded to the office with the best wishes and congratulations of many friends He is a thoroughly capable young man and will no doubt fill the office to the entire satisfaction of all concerned. He was for about twelve years with the commission house of J. W. Phillips & Co., and there gained valuable commercial experience, which will be of great benefit to him in his new duties. He has been a resident of Atlanta almost during his lifetime, and is thoroughly acquainted with the city and its interests.

Mr. Wynne is also familiar with the duties of the position, he having visited the recorder's court daily for the last few weeks, familiarizing himself with the work and re-ceiving instructions from Captain Baker about its conduct. He will start off with the work with a thorough understanding of it, and it is safe to say that there will be no hitch in his conduct of the position.

Captain Baker gave up his office very gracefully and with the regret of many of the attaches of the court and its patrons, he having gained the friendship of all who have had business with the court by his uniform courtesy and kindness to them. He has not yet decided as to what he will do, but he has two or three good openings and will not be out of service many days.

Mr. Johnson Goes In. Mr. Walter Johnson began his duties as clerk to the chief of detectives of the At-lanta police department yesterday morning. It will be remembered that he was ap pointed to the office by order of the police commissioners three or four days ago, succeeding Mr. Pat Bloomfield, who has filled the position for several years acceptably and efficiently.

Mr. Bloomfield is at present assisting in Chief Connolly's office during the absence of Clerk Patterson, and will probably remain there until the return of Mr. Patterson is away on a leave of absence, granted on account of sickness. It is probable that he will be given a good position in one of the police departments, probably a signal operators' position, those in authority stating that he would be provided for. Mr. Johnson is a brother of Chairman Johnson of the police board, and is a well-known young man in the city. He has resided in Atlanta for many years, and has a large circle of friends and acquaintances, who warmly congratulated him on securing who warmly congratulated him on securing the office he took charge of yesterday. In addition to keeping the books and attending to the correspondence of the chief of detectives, Mr. Johnson will keep a record of all business transacted in the pawnshops of the city, visiting each one of them daily and making a record of the articles rowh. and making a record of the articles pawr ed for the information of the police and de-

Forward About Women

GOOD MORNING. Every mother at this season is planning the frocks of the little folks she is to take off for the summer, and the style and fabrics this year are certainly charming enough to tempt the best regulated woman into extravagance, Small coats for bables from one to four years old are made full, with longer waists than those of a year ago, and round capes which absorb all the trimming. Bengaline, in white and the pale shades of blue and pink, is a very popular material, and added to this are the colored and white piques and fancy flannel, and the little reefer jackets made of white silk give a baby of two years quite a grown-up air. But more picturesque than all are the little, or rather large, bonnets and hats, for the smaller the child the larger the bonnet seems to be. The daintiest of all this shirred and beruffled headgear is the bonnet of white point d'esprit, made with a flaring front furnished with a ruffle of lace which falls softly around the face, but others of dimity and swiss are almost as pretty, and the mull and chambray sun bonnets are quite as fascinating. A little girl of three years dressed in a gown of white wash silk wears a quaint little sun bonnet of white mull, shirred to form a high crown, and finished around the face with a frill edged with narrow lace, while a small boy of the same are wears located. boy of the same age wears a coat of bengaline silk, trimmed on the cape with silk guipure, and the jaunty little hat of white straw is trimmed with white feathers. A very pretty coat for a child of two is made of white silk with white satin polka dots. The cape is cut out in points, and trimmed underneath with a frill of white point d'esprit lace. The hat is made of white silk, with a large, soft crown and narrow, shirred brim on cord which comes expressly for this purpose, and stiffens the brim, which is edged with a frill of lace, falling softly on the hair. Two rosettes of baby ribbon are the only outside decoration. This sort of hat is sub-stituted for the lace. Some of the sun bonnets are shirred close around the head, with a small crown piece at the back; others have a full crown standing up high and two ruffles of embroidery, one being caught back on the crown. A comis set in around the face.

All these fine frills and furbelows are exquisits of course, and can be kept with-out laundering for dress occasions a whole season, but for every day wear, when the daintiest babies are prone to play in the mand and otherwise untidy themselves, it behooves a mother to look well to the selection of her materials. Colored muslins for charlen are usually a had choice, as they are prone to fade and launder poorly, and the pin-striped dimities which look so tempting in the shops are even worse for the same reasons. best and most reliable colored, everyday dresses are percales, linen lawns and pongee in a tan shade, although silk will not prove as sensible as cotton or finen stuffs. Ginghams are a poor investment for children's frocks. The finest of them often fade out of recognition and those mixed with silk never wash decently.

No Room for Smokers.

A clever woman in The New Orleans Picayune says that it has been whispered to her that there will be a room in our woman's building where any of the sex so minded may steal away and smoke cigarettes, and she follows up the story with talk against the evils of the weed for the feminine gender. That such a story should exist at all is probably due to the brain of some newspaper spaceingenious brain of some newspaper.
writer, for I don't think it has ever ocwriter, for I don't think it has ever to curred to the women interested in the woman's building that there were women who might be addicted to the noxious weed. From the very inception of the enterprise the general trend of ideas for every department has been to make it thoroughly refined and womanly, and, indeed, I'm afraid that the mere suggestion of cigarette smoking among women would horrify most of the members of the board beyond expression.

Enthusiastic Congeniality of Soul. Enthusiastic Congeniality of soil.

In speaking of the tender passion, in the July Lippincott's, H. H. Boyesen gives it this very charming definition: "Love," he says, " is, to my mind, nothing but an enthusiastic congeniality of soul. It is a profound sense of a pervasive harmony profound sense of a pervasive harmony of being. Its first sympton is not a physical attraction, but a delicious realization, on the part of each, of a strange consonance of nature. More than half its joy, consists in the feeling of being completely understood in one's noblest potentialities. understood in one's noblest potentialities.
The lover is for the time what his beloved believes him to be; and she is what he bedeves her to be. What happy audacity of speech, what glorious heights of feeling, what rare flashes of insight, as the two what rare flashes of insight, as the two what rare flashes of insight, as the two whords go sounding together, in melodious childrace, reveling in each other's eloquence, reveling in each other's eloquence, and the resonance of one's speech in a nobe woman's soil to receive one's thought back enriched and beautiful by having passed through their mind, is about the highest earthide which earth has to offer. And the quanties of the will be infinitely multiplied when mind and character, in the more exclusive sense, shall not be the rare stributes of a sew exceptional women. A soul-relation can exist only where souls exist and have shed their embrionic swathings, having assumed their permanent type and quality. That by no means pre-cludes growth, but rather insures it, and in a way points its direction.'

Latest Phaze of Trilbyismus. One of these days, when the "Trilby" mania has reached a less acute phase, some-body may pause to find out why it is that the name is associated in the popular mind with bare feet and naked shins, suggests a San Francisco writer. Then he—presuma-bly a "he"—goes on to tell of the latest phase of the craze. On a roof garden or i a music hall "Trilby" is synonymous with feet, and there is no telling what a disappointment it must be to roof garden habit ues when they read the book and find that the scene is not laid in a Turkish bath or at a chiropodist's.

This form of the decadent Trilbyismus,' he says, "began when Mollie Fuller put pink grease paint on her toes and danced at the Bijou a month ago with bare legs. At present two young women, half hidden by umbrellas, dance with bare legs and feet on the Casak of shins at the American roof gar-den. There are four dancers in the quadrille that is given now at the end of the per-formance there. They are Trilby, Svengall, the Laird and an unclassified fourth, who is a female, and seems to be there because four bare shins are better than two. She might have been Mimi La Salope, or even Mme. Vinard, if the manager had known anything about the book, but he didn't, so she is vaguely described as "a villager." To music that ranges from a variation on 'Men Bolt' to the cancan from 'Orphee aux Enfers,' the four dance a quadrille. When Svengali does a pas suel, Trilby and the villager retire to take off their shoes and stockings. By the time the their shoes and stockings. By the time the Laird has danced a Scotch reel they are ready. The villager does her dance first. Her feet and legs are bare. She wears a diaphanous white skirt and under it a great deal of soft clinging underwear. She does the usual skirt dance steps, and the linen skirts follow the movements of her limbs so quickly that the flesh is never seen much above her knees. But there is no sugges-tion that her legs are covered by anything more than the lacy linen. It is realistic, bu not nearly so pretty as the customary pink-shaded fleshings. In the glare of the electric lights the skin looks yellow, and the 'villager' has not 'made up' her shins as carefully as Mollie genuine article was voted not so ornamental as the usual tights.

"Trilby's skirts were shorter. There was a series of kicks, the salut militaire, which is the name given to the gentle trick of holding up the leg until the foot is as high as the head, several splits and then Trilby and her bare limbs retired. The limit of this species of Trilbylsmus has been reached on the American roof garden.

The uses and varieties of ribbon employed for decorating summer gowns are legion.
Enther schecked, striped, pompadour of dresden patterned, taffeta or plain satin ribbons are a part of nearly every youthful gown, and all these gowns have a touch of ribbon somewhere. A pretty fashion are the braces of ribbon finished with bows on the shoulders and others at the waist. Each ribbon, from three to six inches wide, is s carried down the front or back

White parasols of plain silk and no trimming are the prevailing fashion for general use with light gowns, and in addition to these are the changeable silks for greater service, and some that are covered with large Scotch plaids, very conspicuous, but

Some Passing Society Chat The mariage in Eufaula of Miss Augusta Holt, of that city, and Mr. Elie B. Hulsey, of Anniston, was the notable event of the social season there. The ceremony was pronounced at the first Baptist church after the beautiful service of the Episcopal church by Rev. J. G. Bow, the pastor. The Pet Squirrel. He has a long string 'round his neck, And his chain is a tiny brass link; So he runs to the top of my chair, And my eyes, as they follow him, wink.

For he jumps to the window and lifts His queer, clinging claws o'er the sill, and seems as demure as a mouse, So calmly contented and still.

In a second he sees through the glass How the gardener handles his hoe; But digging the ground, to his mind, Is a process exceedingly slow.

So I stretch out my sleeve and he runs Up my arm at a wonderful pace; And perched on my shoulder, he strives To wash the warm dust from his face.

I hand him a nut, and with glee He twiris it around like a top; And, peeling the shell with his teeth, He seems for a moment to stop, Till he spies my old pocket, and hides In its lining as soft as a nest; And I feel half inclined to believe He is seeking a season of rest,

But soon up the crease of my coat He slips and glides over my back; And to make him less nervous, you know, I give him an acorn to crack.

Oh! I think as he runs up and down,
Perpetual motion must be
A secret he found in the woods
Engraved on his family tree.

AT THE CHAUTAUQUA.

Mr. Stanton and Mr. Harris Give Readings-Miss Wuertz Plays.

By far the largest audience that has attended any of the chautauqua entertainments assembled in the Grand last night. The programme published in The Constitution yesterday morning was gone through without hitch or ommission. The Atlanta Vocal Society, under the direction of Mf. H. M. Burbank, sang excellently.

The Cunningham quintet, of Cincinnati, did some capital work, each selection it rendered being enthusiastically received and warmly encored. The ensemble sing-and warmly encored. The ensemble sing-ing of the quartette is as fine as any heard for a long time in Atlanta. Mme. Balley was as sweet and fas-cinating as ever and completely won the hearts of her audience. She sang the "Jewel Song," from "Faust," in so artistic a manner as to elicit the praise of the heast critics present and to win the unstituted best critics present and to win the unstinted applause of the entire audience. She was encored three times and still the audience, like Oliver Twist, clamored for Miss Wuertz achieved a notable success as she always does. She is an artist who grows constantly in popular favor, yet who is justly appreciated by educated mus-Icians and violinists. They recognize her good points and are not slow to award her a proper share of praise. During her sojourn in Atlanta this beautiful and talented young woman has endeared her-self to the community and made friends and admirers of thousands who will lament her departure tomorrow.

The vehement applause which greeted Mr. Frank L. Stanton when he appeared before the footlights evidenced the warm esteem in which he is held. It was a test of his popularity. But the still warmer applause which his recitations evoked was a tribute to his genius; it showed in what estimation his platform work is held by the audience. Judged by this criterion the great poet achieved a defirite success, which must be no less gratifying to him-self than to his innumerable admirers. So heartly did the audience enjoy his recitations that he was compelled to reappear three times in response to the most em-phatic encores. Mr. Stanton possesses a fine stage presence, and his manner is easy and granceful. His enunciation is so distinct that every word he speaks is heard in all parts of the vast auditorium. It requires no prophet to foresee a success-ful career for Mr. Stanton as a platform Julian Harris, the son of a genius, is himself a genius. His recitations of selec-tions from the writings of his illustrious father proved very enjoyable. These recitations were given in the genuine negro dialect which it is so difficult to simulate. Nobody box a born southerner can interpret "Uncle Remus." Mr. Harris pos-sesses a strong, clear voice of good carry-ing power, which he controls with elocutionary skill. He is intensely earnest in his work. There is nothing artificial or stagy in his manner. He is always true to nature. This naturalness is always captivating. The audience recognized his genius at once and rewarded him with a liberal share of applause. Mr. Harris was compelled to give three encores. As a delineator of the negro character he is incomparable, and his success on the platform is assured.

Tonight's Fine Programme.

The committee has arranged a most excellent programme for tonight, and doubt-less the attendance will be large. The famous English handbell ringers have ar-rived and they will be heard for the first time tonight. The music of the bells, when manipulated by master hands, has a charm peculiarly its own. On their sweet, silvery tones the soul seems to float far away earth and earthly things, and lose itself listening. In addition to the performance by this fine organization the following will be

Violin Solo—Miss Marguerite Wuertz.

Dr. Lamar's lecture on "Dixie Before the War. As a Boy Saw It" has been re-peated at several chautauquas by special request. It will be to our young people a beautiful revelation—amusing, pathetic and descriptive of the old life of the south that is gone, and to our elderly people it will be a revival of memories fast fading into the gloaming. We hope Atlanta will of our people and of a distinguished son of the south.

Cincinnati at Atlanta. From The Cincinnati Tribune The people of Cincinnati cannot afford to overlook or underestimate the importance of the Atlanta exposition, to be held next fail. It will not in any sense of the world rival the world's exposition, but it is a fail. It will not in any sense of the word rival the world's exposition, but it is a matter of local concern to the people of Cincinnati to see that they have some prominent position during the exercises incident to the opening' of the fair. We have noticed that Chicago contemplates having a Chicago day, when her mercantile representatives in the south will probably gather at Atlanta, reinforced by large delegations from the city by the lake. They will make a hustling day of it, attract large attention, and undoubtedly strengthen that city's commercial interests in the south.

It would be a very plain and simple matter, with concerted action on the part of the business men of Cincinnati, to have a day at Atlanta, to be known as Cincinnati day. No doubt several excursions would run from Cincinnati with low fares for the round trip, and thus attract a large number of visitors from the city, and contribute to advertise Cincinnati among the people of Georgia and the south. It is a matter that needs prompt attention.

New York, July 1.-There were two sides to the stock market today, and those op-erating for lower prices found this out at an early hour. At the opening Chicago Gas railled about 2 points and the railway list, on higher cables from London, moved tp %2% per cent. The bears on the Industrials then made another attack and breught about a decline of \(\frac{1}{2}\) per cent. In this decline Chicago Gas sold down to 58%. Tobacco to 107\(\frac{1}{2}\) and Sugar to 105. Much to the disappointment of the bear contingent, this raid was practically ig-nored, so far as the railway list was con-cerned, and for the remainder of the day the shorts devoted their time to getting back the stock put out on the theory that the break in the Industrials would start liquidation. Again the shorts in the Industrials were somewhat disturbed by the bils made by a leading Broad street house, which has been identified with Chicago Gas in the past, for the dividend on any part of 10,000 shares. This firm offered to give % per cent if the dividend is to be quarterly and ½ if declared semi-annually. This apparently had the effect of setting at rest the talk that the directors will pass the dividend, although it did not stop the gossip about a bond issue by the company. To-bacco was heavy, and fell from 110½ to 107½ @109, Judge Shipman having reversed the decision of a lower court in favor of the company, involving a cigarette machine. afternoon trading covering became quite general and prices of the Industrials rose anywhere from ½ to 4 per cent. The railway group moved up ½ to 1½ per cent. Birlington and Quincy, Missouri Pacific and Southern railway preferred leading. The strength of the securities of the last named both here and in London were con-sidered insignificant in view of the fact that the financial policy of the company is dictated by the house of J. P. Morgan & Co. Speculaction closed strong with prices at or near the highest figures of the day. Net changes show gains of \(\frac{4}{92\%}\) per cent, the Industrials leading Tobacco lost 1\(\frac{1}{2}\) per cent. er cent.

Early Morning Gossip.

Dow Jones News Company by private wire to J. C. Knox, manager: The decline in Gas brought no buying of impor-tance. On the contrary, it was the im-pression of traders that long stock came out. It was supposed that an interest which covered liberally on Friday put out one-half its line again Saturday; Chicago Gas sold considerable stock, and dispatches indicated a good deal of uneasiness over the break. One or two Chicago operators have been neavy losers. The impression here is that the dividend is in doubt. Officers of the combany, however, are giving out reassuring statements in Chicago. President Lincoln told an acquaintance Saturday that he thought the regular dividend would be declared, and asserted that the affairs of the company were never in a more prosperous condition. As we hear it, if the dividends are suspended, it will be because other use can be made of the earnings growing out of the necessities connected with the change from water to coal gas, and incidentally on account of the difficulties redentally on account of the difficulties resulting from the failure to get remedial legislation. Attorney General Moloney said Saturday that he was contemplating no new move against Gas, but had quite a mass of evidence to be presented before the master in chancery at the hearing today (Monday). We are told that a statement is about to be issued by bankers close to the Kan-sas and Texas management which will show earnings equivalent to all fixed charges, rentals and taxes, the full 4 per cent dividend on preferred stock and a surplus equivalent to 1½ per cent on com-

It appears to be a fact that insiders to Tennessee Coal and Iron are not anxious for a further advance in the price of the stock at present. The stock has heretofore been supplied near 40 in such a way as to prevent the market running away. The idea is to prevent a violent and dangerous speculation, which might result in an unpleasant setback. It is stated that the United States Rubber Company has on hand 50 per cent more detailed orders than at this time a year ago, The probabilities are that the company will continue in operation all summer, except the usual two weeks' vacation for the employes in August.

Jersey Central declares 1½ per cent quarterly dividend. Louisville and Nashville earnings for the month of May increased $1,771.

Closing Stock Review.

New York, July 1.—New York News Bureau by private wire to J. C. Knox, manager: The stock market today, in early dealings, was weak under further raiding by the bear faction. The Industrials were forced to a lower point than at Saturday's close, but railled sharply on covering of shorts.

The railway list received support from condon, and there was good local buying on all concessions.

Northwest broke 1 per cent, but recovered more than the loss.

New Bogland was marked up nearly 2 per cent.

The strongest features were Louisville and Nashville, Southern railway preferred and the Grangers.

Tennessee Coal and Iron broke 1 per cent, and recovered almost all the loss.

The leading industrials fell 2 to 4 per cent, but Sugar went 2 per cent above Saturday's close, and Gas was 2 per cent higher.

The market closed irregular, but with evidence of more support, and bears were endeavoring to cover.

Financial Gossip.

Financial Gossip.

If outside conditions were now shaping the course of prices at the exchange we should have an active and advancing market. All these are favorable, according to the generally accepted tests and indications, and the situation is just the reverse of what it was a year ago. General business is active and expanding. Staple products command fair prices, railway earnings improve and the treasury gold reserve is restored.

But temporarily these things have no But temporarily these things have no local application, having been largely discounted by a bull movement. Within the stock exchange professional operators are at work busily and are using all the ingenuity they possess to shake out weak holders and depress prices—with what success, as regards Industrials, has already been seen.

cess, as regards Industrials, has already been seen.

That they will this week extend their aggressiveness to the railway shares, probably with some cost to values, is a logical conclusion strengthened by experience. We believe therefore that the market will be unsettled for the time being and that holders of the high priced railroad shares, nearly all of which can now be sold within a point or two of the best points reached in the boom, should exchange their stocks for cash, pending a moderate decline. In the Industrials liquidation has been extensive and from their lowest Saturday Sugar and Chicago Gas should get a speculative raily.

sive and from their lowest Saturday Sugar and Chicago Gas should get a speculative rally.

Some of the specialties, notably those behind which are strong interests, will be exceptions to the general movement of prices, but what more natural than that leaders in the rise should get a reaction. Take the Grangers. In Burlington, Northwest and Rock Island and even in St. Paul there has been enough unloading by strong people to leave weak ones loaded up. It is the latter's small margins that the room trader is after. When he gets through, has done some damage to quotations, the speculative atmosphere will be healthier.

From a financial point of view the late week was eventful. Mr. Pierpont Morgan returned from Europe and the syndicate completed its payments for the last government bond issue. Consequently the treasury gold reserve, for the first time since it fell_below_$0,000,000, rose above $100,000,000, now standing at about $107,000,000,000, Mr. Morgan had important work on his hands the moment he left his steamer, and the sort of progress he made is best shown by results.

In the first place the trunk line situation, now in a chaotic state, was not only simplified, but an agreement to restore rates July 8th, was reached in such remarkably quick time as clearly to indicate that the large holders of securities had at last roused themselves and were acting with the banker.

Exchange advanced and there was talk of gold exports, but the assurance is given that the bond syndicate will continue to that the bond syndicate will continue to exert its influence to prevent them. Imports of dry goods and general merchandise were of fair volume and exports of products were very moderate.

Those of wheat and flour fell off nearly a million bushels yet were somewhat larger than for the corresponding period a year ago.

aminon business yet were somewhat year ago.

Bank clearings continued to show rapid growth of business and at $1,635,000,000 for the week were 32 per cent larger than a year ago and only about 3 per cent less than the normal record. Increase by the principal cities are: New York 40 per cent. Boston 35, Philadelphia 30, St. Louis 25, Baltimore 20 and New Orleans 13 per cent. Earnings are less favorable, as a test of business, than clearings, yet for the third week there was an increase in gross of $1/2 per cent or about the same as the gain for the week preceding. The movement of grain is very light, but that of merchandise increased and is slowly making itself feit, in some cases, even rapidly, the May statement of the Pennsylvania being instanced. Its increase in gross of nearly $1,500,000 is one of the best proofs are all the proofs and the proofs and the proofs are supposed to the recovery in business.

New York, July 1.—The news from Liverpeol this n.orning was a strong indication that it had been converted to the bull side.

Spot cotton there was higher and sales were 12,000 bales. This was larger than the spot sales reported on any one day during the month of June.

Futures were up about 4 points and closs?
firm at the advance. A good demand in Manchester on account of the reported damage to the India crop caused Liverpcol's firmness. Reports from Texas state that cotton there is in bad condition, though with improved weather from now on it is believed that a fair crop may be made, though considerably smaller than a year.

ago. Some fields have been abandoned on account of grass and weeds. Mississippi advices also state that the fields there are grassy and do not look at all well. There was a rumor of a bull combination in cotton, but we place no faith in it. There is probably too small a short interest to cause any sharp upward movement at the present time, but we believe that prospects of a reduced cotton crop and the improved business outlook are sufficient reasons for a stronger tone and a gradual rise in prices. Our market opened 8 to 10 points higher and followed this by a further advance of about 5 points, August selling at 6.98. There was some recession from this price and August closed at 6.96, with the market steady. Southern spot markets were generally unchanged. There was an advance of it in quotations here.

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter. Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, July 1.—(Special.)—The market wore a more cheerful aspect today. A sharp advance in Liverpool had a wond full effect in encouraging the bulls and taming the bears. August opened 8 points higher at 6.91 and advanced 7 points further to 6.98. Realizing sules then caused a reaction of four or five points, but the close was steady with August at 6.95@6.96. After the close there was a good demand, bidders offering 6.96 for August. The continued rains in the southwest, where fair weather is badly needed, helped to strengthen the market, but cotton is still very low, and unless the picmise of the crop is greatly underestimated the demand from spinners is likely soon to life prices to a higher point than they have yet reached.

Hubbard Bros. and Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Hubbard Bros. and Co.'s Cotton Letter. New York, July 1.—(Special.)—Liverpool has today shown so much strength that had buyers appeared in our market the advance here would have been greater. A gain of 6-646 abroad with a firm close A gain of 6-64d abroad with a firm close and spot sales of 12,000 bales shows a disposition to buy cotton which our cable report says is due to apprehension that the crop damage from the recent rains has been considerable. A few buying orders from abroad have been filled and they helped the advance from 6.91 at the opening here to 6.96, a decline of 2 points on lack of business with a steady market, marking the midday aspect. Telegrams from New Orleans report rains again in Texas with a sharp rise in the Brazos river today. Earlier in the day a decline was sharply recovered, traders here finding few willing to face bodily the possibility of an increasing demand for cotton. Commission houses are not actively employed, as possible operators are onlockers, having been so often misled by crop reports. The forenoon business has been largely exchanges between August and October. Predictions of fair and warmer weather were officially made this afternoon, but were without effect upon the market, which kept its steadiness to the close. Business remained moderate, but the undertone was firm. and spot sales of 12,000 bales shows a dis

New York, July 1.—Cotton rose 12 to 14 points and closed steady with sales of 130,-900 bales. Manchester was quiet. Liverpool advanced 1.32d on the spot, with sales of 12,000 bales; futures advanced 4 to 5 points and then reacted slightly and closed firm at a net advance of 3½@4 points. In New Orleans futures advanced 12 to 13 points and spot cotton 1-16c, with sales of 800 bales. Here spot prices were raised ½c. Fifty-eight bales were sold for spinning. The port receipts were 384, against 1,315 this day last week and 1.538 last 'year.

Today's Features—A strong and active Liverpool market, heavy rains in Texas, where the average at five places for forty-eight hours was 2.6 inches, and buying by Liverpool and the continent and New Orleans, as well as by local operators, caused a sharp advance here. There were heavy rains also in Alabama and Louisiana, although some rain was needed in the Atlantic states. The heavy precipitations in Georgia and South Carolina can hardly help the crop very much, as it is likely to greatly increase the growth of grass. One firm said tonight: "All news from the south show that the crop is very grassy and dry weather is much needed."

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Not Much Confidence to the Early Buying and Prices Declined.

Chicago, July 1.—An irregular and nar-row wheat market wound up in a break today with a well known local profession-al's sales of short stuff. The crowd started into bull prices this morning on a variety of counts. There was not much confidence to the buying, however, the scalpers turn to the buying, however, the scalpers turning very quickly on the selling that took place and a decline occurred. September wheat opened from 72% to 72% c, sold between 73% and 71% c, closing at 71% 673% c—1461% c under yesterday. Cash wheat sold at steady prices but closed weak at 1% over.

Corn, like wheat, lost what little strength it had early, at the close. The same operator who was driving at wheat sold the coarser grain with a free hand, with the object or depressing everything in the cereal line. The market was mainly an uninteresting one, and followed the inclination of wheat. September corn opened at 48½c, sold between 48½4648% and 46%c, closing at 47@47½c—½c under yesterday. Cash corn sold at ½c decline closing nominally a full cent lower.

Oats had a quiet trade, fluctuating within narrow limits until near the close, when they suffered a decline in value similar to that of wheat and corn. The early trade gave evidence of considerable short selling with liquidation by laggard longs, September oats closed 1/46% lower than Saturday. Cash oats were 1/46% per bushel lower.

Provisions—A firm and active hog market was of great assistance to product early, causing an advance on everything at the opening. The lower standard established by grain during the morning and a weakening effect, however, and prices succumbed to selling. A partial recovery took place later, but in the end pork, lard and ribs were all easy. September pork and lard each closed 12½c lower and September ribs 5@7½c lower. The leadingfutures rai 4546 47 8814 28% 24% 284

By Private Wire to J. C. Knox, Manager.
Chicago, July 1:—The tenor of, the wheat market during the greater portion of today's session has been about evenly divided. The Illinois agricultural bureau estimates that since May ist wheat in that state has depreciated in condition 25 points.
Orange Judd Farmer and Thomann make a shrinkage in the total winter wheat crop of 6 points during June, although they make the exportable surplus more that traders have generally figured out. The visible supply decreased 1,600,000, bringing the total visible supply down to less than 45,000,000, which is over 10,000,000 less than a year ago. Cables, however, did not reflect our strength of Saturday. Exports were again light with little and no inquiry reported from the seaboard. The cash markets were at a standstill. Receipts of new wheat at western points are increasing rapidly. Rumors of a large decrease on passage of 5,000,000 came in at 1,600,000 and the English visible showed an increase of nearly 3,000,000. Deliveries on July contracts were heavy and brokers supposed to be working for the elevator interests were sellers. About the only support the market received was from scalpers and a few outside orders through commission houses. When this demand was satisfied and the decline we have had from the high point an advance would seem to warrant. The market now needs sustaining influences of another character. Traders who are believers in wheat at present prices feel loath to buy on sentiment only, and in the absence of any further bullish influences prices eased off, causing a rather heavy feelling. While the general condition of winter wheat, the very light visible and available stocks, the small reserves in farmers' hands, what they are most anxious for is to see the wheat in demand either in a domestic or an export way.
With this situation and a lack of outside bull enthusiasm it is a very easy matter for professionals and local traders to depress the prices. Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Leiter.

for professionals and local traders to de-press the prices.

Coarse grains and provisions did not es-cape the depression in wheat. Deliveries of corn were free and large selling has been going on the entire session.

Provisions showed considerable strength around opening, but selling by packers was too large for the demand, which came principally from floor traders.

The Cereal Situation. .

Rockies. These stocks with the movement of the new crop so near at hand are very liberal and it is difficult to perceive, barring some accident to the spring wheat, crop or an accident abroad, how a bull movement can be engineered from the present level of prices. Probably the outlook for spring wheat will continue the governing factor and at present it is all that could be desired. The Dakotas and Minnesota are expected to harvest over 150,000,000 bushels. That result, even accepting some of the extreme estimated deficits in winter wheat, will bring the yield for the whole of the country well above 400,000,000 bushels. In consideration of the fact that this country has to contend, in the growth of wheat, with steadily increasing competition by other countries, a crop of over 400,000,000 bushels is hardly a bull argument. As the above table shows there was very little charge in receipts for the weak and average of the country was the reserver for the weak and average of the country was the reserver for the weak and average of the country was the reserver for the weak and average of the country was the reserver for the weak and average and average the reserver for the weak and average the reserver for the weak and average the reserver in the weak and average and average the reserver in the weak and average the reserver in the weak and average the reserver in the second of the country was a country to the second of the country was a country to the second of the country second of the country second of the country was a country to the country second of the count other countries, a crop of over 400,000,000 bushels is hardly a bull argument. As the above table shows there was very little change in receipts for the week, and exports were disappointing. In this connection it is to be said that foreign markets have been a discouraging feature, coincident with which the export business done here was very moderate. General apathy, as regards this phase of the situation, was in command. It is true there was a falling off in exports from Russia and Argentina amounting to nearly 1,250,000 bushels. Inat was encouraging. But it made little difference in the world's shipments to western Europe, for the week 8,750,000 against 9,000,000 the week preceding. The former liberal total was explained by an increase of 1,250,000 in clearances from this country and India. As indicated above, our markets under steady liquidation by discouraged holders were on the decline and the bears in Chicago were more aggressive than at any time since the culmination of the bull movement. Mr. Pardridge is said to have recouped some of the losses he then sustained, Of course, there is no reason now to expect the return of former low prices. Seasoned operators say that the recovery in business and the return of the normal commercial conditions are worth something to the price, which may range, at a guess, between 65 and 75 cents for September in Chicago.

to the price, which may range, at a guess, between 65 and 75 cents for September in Chicago.

Corn and oats were relatively steadier than wheat. Advices from the corn belt were of the same favorable character that has been noted from time to time in this column. There has been plenty of rain. The average is large. Everything points to a big crop. The visible supply is pretty burdensome, nearly 10,000,000 busnels. On these propositions corn should be a sale. On the other hand receipts are light and as the new crop will not be available even if successfully harvested in September, as there is every indication that it will be, we may expect some lively upturns in the corn market from time to time. It is this apprehension that supplies may later on prove deficient that helps to sustain prices. The latter are very high, however, everything considered, and on rallies corn should be a sale. As to crop indications the expert Inglis is quoted as predicting 2.500.000 bushels. Advices as to oats seem to improve and receipts are pretty liberal. On hard spots the market is a sale. Provisions improved after some liquidation and there are hopes of a falling off in the receipts of hogs which hopes lead some houses to believe that when weak these products will do to buy.

SPINNERS TAKE 12,000 BALES

After an Active Trade Wheat Closed at Decline of About 13-8c-Stocks Closed at a Gain of 1-4 to 23-8 Per Cent.

New York, July 1.-There were two sides stock market today, and those operating for lower prices found this out at an early hour. At the opening Chicago Gas rallied about 2 points and the railway list, on higher cables from London, moved up 160% per cent. The bears on the Industrials then made another attack and brought about a decline of 160% per cent. In this decline Chicago Gas sold down to 58%. Tobacco to 107% and Sugar to 105. Much to the disappointment of the bear contingent, this raid was practically ignored, so far as the railway list was concerned, and for the remainder of the day the shorts devoted their time to getting back the stock put out on the theory that the break in the Industrials would start liquidation. Again the shorts in the custrials were somewhat disturbed by the bids made by a leading Broad street house which has been identified with Chicago Gas in the past, for the dividend on any part of 10,000 shares. This firm offered to give % per cent if the dividend is to be quarterly and ½ if declared semi-annually. This apparently had the effect of setting at rest the talk that the directors will pass the dividend, although it did not stop the gossip about a bond issue by the company. Tobacco was heavy, and fell from 1101/2 to 1071/2 @109, Judge Shipman having reversed the decision of a lower court in favor of the company, involving a cigarette machine. In the afternoon trading covering became quite general and prices of the Industrials rose anywhere from 1/2 to 4 per cent. The railway group moved up ½ to 1½ per cent, Burlington and Quincy, Missouri Pacific and Southern railway preferred leading. The strength of the securities of the last named both here and in London were con-sidered insignificant in view of the fact that the financial policy of the company is dictated by the house of J. P. Morgan & Co. Speculaction closed strong with prices at or near the highest figures of the day. Early Morning Gossip.

Dow Jones News Company by private wire to J. C. Knox, manager: The de-cline in Gas brought no buying of importance. On the contrary, it was the impression of traders that long stock came out. It was supposed that an interest which covered liberally on Friday put out one-half its line again Saturday. Gas sold considerable stock, and dispatches indicated a good deal of uneasiness over the break. One or two Chicago operators have been neavy losers. The impression here is that the dividend is in doubt. Officers of the combany, however, are Officers of the company, however, are giving out reassuring statements in Chi-President Lincoln told an acquaintance Saturday that he thought the regular dividend would be declared, and asserted that the affairs of the company were never in a more prosperous condi-tion. As we hear it, if the dividends are suspended, it will be because other use can be made of the earnings growing out of the necessities connected with the change from water to coal gas, and incidentally on account of the difficulties resulting from the failure to get remedial legislation. Attorney General Moloney legislation. Attorney General Moloney said Saturday that he was contemplating no new move against Gas, but had quite a mass of evidence to be presented before the master in chancery at the hearing today (Monday).

We are told that a statement is about to be issued by bankers close to the Kan-sas and Texas management which will show earnings equivalent to all fixed charges, rentals and taxes, the full 4 per cent dividend on preferred stock and a surplus equivalent to 1½ per cent on common stock.

It appears to be a fact that insiders in Tennessee Coal and Iron are not anxious for a further advance in the price of the stock at present. The stock has heretofore been supplied near 40 in such a way as to prevent the market running away. The idea is to prevent a violent and dangerous speculation, which might result in an unpleasant setback.

Financial Gossip.

Financial Gossip.

If outside conditions were now shaping the course of prices at the exchange we should have an active and advancing market. All these are favorable, according to the generally accepted tests and indications, and the situation is just the reverse of what it was a year ago. General business is active and expanding. Staple products command fair prices, railway earnings improve and the treasury gold reserve is restored.

But temporarily these things have no oral application, having been largely dis-ounted by a bull movement. Within the stock exchange professional operators are at work busily and are using all the in-genuity they possess to shake out weak genuity they possess to shake out weak holders and depress prices—with what suc-cess, as regards Industrials, has already cess, as regards Industrials, has already been seen.

That they will this week extend their aggressiveness to the railway shares, probably with some cost to values, is a logical conclusion strengthened by experience. We believe therefore that the market will be unsettled for the time being and that holders of the high priced railroad shares, nearly all of which can now be sold within a point or two of the best points reached in the boom, should exchange their stocks for cash, pending a moderate decline. In the Industrials liquidation has been extensive and from their lowest Saturday Sugar and Chicago Gas should get a speculative raily.

and Chicago Gas should get a speculative rally.

Some of the specialties, notably those behind which are strong interests, will be exceptions to the general movement of prices, but what more natural than that leaders in the rise should get a reaction. Take the Grangers. In Burlington, Northwest and Rock Island and even in St. Paul there has been enough unloading by strong people to leave weak ones loaded up. It is the latter's small margins that the room trader is after. When he gets through, has done some damage to quotations, the speculative atmosphere will be healthier. From a financial point of view the late week was eventful. Mr. Pierpont Morgan returned from Europe and the syndicate completed its payments for the last government bond issue. Consequently the treasury gold reserve, for the first time since it fell below $00,000,000, rose above $100,000,000, now standing at about $107,000,000, Mr. Morgan had important work on his hands the moment he left his steamer, and the sort of progress he made is best shown by results.

In the first place the trunk line situation, and the sort of progress he made is best shown by results.

In the first place the trunk line situation, now in a chaotic state, was not only simplified, but an agreement to restore rates July 8th, was reached in such remarkably quick time as clearly to indicate that the large holders of securities had at last roused themselves and were acting with the banker.

Exchange advanced and there was talk of gold exports, but the assurance is given that the bond syndicate will continue to exert its influence to prevent them. Imports of dry goods and general merchandise were of fair volume and exports of products were very moderate.

Bank clearings continued to show rapid growth of business and at $1.035,000,000 for the week were 32 per cent larger than a year ago and only about 3 per cent less than the normal record. Increase by the principal cities are: New York 40 per cent. Boston 35, Philadelphia 30, St. Louis 25, Baltimore 20 and New Orleans 13 per cent. Earnings, are less favorable, as a test of business, than clearings, yet for the third week there was an increase in gross of 8½ per cent or about the same as the gain for the week preceding. The movement of grain is very light, but that of merchandise increased and is slowly making itself felt, in some cases even rapidly, the May statement of the Pennsylvania being instanced. Its increase in gross of nearly $1,500,000 is one of the best proofs available of the recovery in business. available of the recovery in business.

Daniel O'Dell & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, July 1.—New York News Bureau by private wire to J. C. Knox, manager: The stock market today, in early dealings, was weak under further raiding by the bear faction. The Industrials were forced to a lower point than at Saturday's close, but rallied sharply on covering of shorts.

The railway list received support from London, and there was good local buying on all concessions.

ago. Some fields have been abandoned on account of grass and weeds. Mississippl advices also state that the fields there are grassy and do not look at all well. There was a rumor of a bull combination in cotton, but we place no faith in it. There is probably too small a short interest to cause any sharp upward movement at the present time, but we believe that prospects of a reduced cotton crop and the improved business outlook are sufficient reasons for a stronger tone and a gradual rise in prices. Our market opened 8 to 10 points higher and followed this by a further advance of about 5 points, August selling at 6.95. There was some recession from this price and August closed at 6.96, with the market steady. Southern spot markets were generally unchanged. There was an advance of 1/2 in quotations here.

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, July 1.—(Special.)—The market wore a more cheerful aspect today. A sharp advance in Liverpool had a wonderful effect in encouraging the bulls and taming the bears. August opened 8 points higher at 6.91 and advanced 7 points further to 6.98. Realizing sales then caused a reaction of four or five points, but the close was steady with August at 6.9566.96. After the close there was a good demand, bidders offering 6.96 for August. The continued rains in the southwest, where fair weather is badly needed, helped to strengthen the market, but cotton is still very low, and unless the promise of the crop is greatly underestimated the demand from spinners is lkely soon to life prices to a higher point than they have yet reached. Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

lkely soon to life prices to a nagner point than they have yet reached.

New York, July 1.—(Special.)—Liverpool has today shown so much strength that had buyers appeared in our market the advance here would have been greater. A gain of 6-64d abroad with a firm close and spot sales of 12,000 bales shows a disposition to buy cotton which our cable report says is due to apprehension that the crop damage from the recent rains has been considerable. A few buying orders from abroad have been filled and they helped the advance from 6.91 at the opening here to 6.96, a decline of 2 points on lack of business with a steady market, marking the midday aspect. Telegrams from New Orleans report rains again in Texas with a sharp rise in the Brazos river today. Earlier in the day a decline was sharply recovered, traders here finding few willing to face bodily the possibility of an increasing demand for cotton. Commission houses are not actively employed, as possible operators are onlookers, having been so often misled by crop reports. The forenoon business has been largely exchanges between August and October. Predictions of fair and warmer weather were officially made this afternoon, but were without effect upon the market, which kept its steadiness to the close. Business remained moderate, but the undertone was firm.

Sun's Cotton Review.

Sun's Cotton Review.

New York, July 1.—Cotton rose 12 to 14 points and closed steady with sales of 130, 900 bales. Manchester was quiet. Liverpool advanced 1-32d on the spot, with sales of 12,000 bales, futures advanced 4 to 5 points and then reacted slightly and closed firm at a net advance of 3½/3/4 points. In New Orleans futures advanced 12 to 13 points and spot cotton 1-16c, with sales of 800 bales. Here spot prices were raised ½c. Fifty-eight bales were sold for spinning. The port receipts were 398, against 1,315 this day last week and 1,558 last year.

Today's Features—A strong and active Liverpool market, heavy rains in Texas, where the average at five places for forty-eight hours was 2.6 inches, and buving by Liverpool and the continent and New Orleans, as well as by local operators, caused a sharp advance here. There were heavy rains also in Alabama and Louisiana, although some rain was needed in the Atlantic states. The heavy precipitations in Georgia and South Carolina can hardly help the crop very much, as it is likely to greatly increase the growth of grass. One firm sald tonight: "All news from the south show that the crop is very grassy and dry weather is much needed."

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Not Much Confidence to the Early Buying and Prices Declined. Chicago, July 1.-An irregular and nar row wheat market wound up in a break today with a well known local profession-al's sales of short stuff. The crowd started into bull prices this morning on a variety of counts. There was not much confidence to the buying, however, the scalpers turning very quickly on the selling that took place and a decline occurred. September place and a decline occurred. September wheat opened from 72% to 72% c, sold between 73% and 71% c, closing at 71% 673% c-1% 61% c under yesterday. Cash wheat sold at steady prices but closed weak at 1% open at steady prices but closed weak at 1½ lower.

Corn, like wheat, lost what little strength it had early, at the close. The same operator who was driving at wheat sold the coarser grain with a free hand, with the object or depressing everything in the cereal line. The market was mainly an uninteresting one, and followed the inclination of wheat. September corn opened at 45½c, sold between 45½d8% and 45½c, closing at 4704½c-½c under yesterday. Cash corn sold at ½c decline closing nominally a full cent lower.

Oats had a quiet trade, fluctuating within narrow limits until near the close, when they suffered a decline in value similar to that of wheat and corn. The early trade gave evidence of considerable short selling with liquidation by laggard longs. September oats closed ¼@%c lower than Saturday. Cash oats were ¼@½ per bushel lower.

easy. September pork and lard each closed 12% lower and September ribs 5@7% lower. 691₄ 714 734 The leadin flutures rang

July contracts were heavy and brokers supposed to be working for the elevator interests were sellers. About the only support the market received was from scalpers and a few outside orders through commission houses. When this demand was satisfied and the decline we have had from the high point an advance would seem to warrant. The market now needs sustaining influences of another character. Traders who are believers in wheat at present, prices feel loath to buy on sentiment only, and in the absence of any further bullish influences prices eased off, causing a rather heavy feeling. While the general condition of winter wheat, the very light visible and available stocks, the small reserves in farmers' hands, what they are most anxious for is to see the wheat in demand either in a domestic or an export way. With this situation and a lack of outside bull enthusiasm it is a very easy matter for professionals and local traders to depress the prices.

Coarse grains and provisions did not escape the depression in wheat. Deliveries of corn were free and large selling has been going on the entire session.

Provisions showed considerable strength around opening, but selling by packers was too large for the demand, which came principally from floor traders.

other regions—enlarging estimates following alarmist figures as to shortage. For Kansas the talk was 12,000,000 bushels; the thrashers now indicate twice as much. The following compares last week's western receipts with those of the week before and the corresponding period a year ago:

From The New York Stockholder.
Crop reports were bullish last week, but the wheat market till near the close, when it rallied, was bearish. In the winter belt the harvest line had advanced well to the north, which means that the cutting will soon be over. In the south thrashers are at work and there are many reports of disappointing results. Very largely they are speculative, though, of course, this year's yield of winter wheat is much below an average. In view of past experience it will be well to avoid extravagant estimates of the deficit. This impression is strengthened by the fact that one of the winter wheat states, notwithstanding all the reports of general damage, now comes to the front with one of the largest and very best crops in its history. The state is Missouri. What has happened there may occur in other regions—enlarging estimates following alarmist figures as to shortage. For Karsas, the talk was 12,000,000 hushels: the with nearly 50,000,000 bushels east of the Rockies. These stocks with the movement of the new crop so near at hand are very liberal and it is difficult to perceive, barring some accident to the spring wheat, crop or an accident abroad, how a bull movement can be engineered from the present level of prices. Probably the outlook for spring wheat will continue the governing factor and at present it is all that could be desired. The Dakotas and Minnesota are expected to harvest over 150,000,000 bushels. That result, even accepting some of the extreme estimated deficits in winter wheat, will bring the yield for the whole of the country well above 400,000,000 bushels. In consideration of the fact that this country has to contend, in the growth of wheat, with steadily increasing competition by other countries, a crop of over 400,000,000 bushels is hardly a bull argument. As the above table shows there was very little change in receipts for the week, and exwith steadily increasing competition by other countries, a crop of over 400,000,000 bushels is hardly a bull argument. As the above table shows there was very little change in receipts for the week, and exports were disappointing. In this connection it is to be said that foreign markets have been a discouraging feature, coincident with which the export business done here was very moderate. General apathy, as regards this phase of the situation, was in command. It is true there was a falling off in exports from Russia and Argentina amounting to nearly 1,250,000 bushels. Inat was encouraging. But it made little difference in the world's shipments to western Europe, for the week 8,750,000 against 9,000,000 the week preceding. The former liberal total was explained by an increase of 1,250,000 in clearances from this country and India. As indicated above, our markets under steady liquidation by discouraged holders were on the decline and the bears in Chicago were more aggressive than at any time since the culmination of the bull movement. Mr. Pardridge is said to have recouped some of the losses he then sustained. Of course, there is no reason now to expect the return of former low prices. Seasoned operators say that the recovery in business and the return of the normal commercial conditions are worth something to the price, which may range, at a guess, between 65 and 75 cents for September in Chicago.

Corn and oats were relatively steadier than wheat. Advices from the corn belt were of the same favorable character that has been noted from time to time in this column. There has been plenty of rain. The average is large. Everything points to a big crop. The visible supply is pretty burdensome, nearly 10,000,000 bushels. On these propositions corn should be a sale. On the other hand receipts are light and as the new crop will not be available even if successfully harvested in September, as there is every indication that it will be, we may expect some lively upturns in the corn market from time to time. This afternoon at 4 o'clock a mass meeting of the leading business men of that city will be held in the Palmer house and full and definite plans will be made for the trip. The gentlemen back of the trip are the strongest factors in the commerce of the Windy City and they are eager to see their city well represented here. They are thoroughly in touch with the exposition spirit. At the meeting this afternoon a general committee will be appointed to take charge of all of the details of the trip.

The business men of Chicago are heartily interested in the exposition, and it will not be surprising if a great mulacude of them comes. The press of Chicago is lending the very heartiest encouragement to the scheme. Delivery of medals and diplomas concluded the evening.

If President Orr had even so small a sum as $10,000 to spend in making some needed improvements, Dalton Female college would ride on the front of a floodide of prosperity. It is a superior institution for training girls and has a fine corps of consecrated teachers who are doing noble work in their several departments.

The house is one of the most comfortable in the state, especially in the boarding department. If the rosy cheeks of the ladies count for anything they are well cared for in the college home.

ing Some Extensive Additions.

A mortgage of $250,000 was filed yesterday morning by the Exposition Cotton Mills Company to the American Trust and Banking Company.

The mortgage is given to cover an issue of 250 bonds of $1,000 each, which have been issued by the company. The issue of bonds was made for the purpose of enabling the company to put up 20,000 spindles in addition to the large number already in use.

The move is a splendid one. The addition of the 20,000 spindles has been contemplate for some time and work has already con-menced upon the new building.

Atlanta has been called "the Chicago of the south," and the energy she has displayed in organizing the Cotton States and International exposition and the general interest her citizens have succeeded in awakening in it prove that the name is not a misnomer, says The Times-Herald. The enterprise and business of Chicago will be well represented in the exhibits there, and the visit of this delegation is intended to show the real and particular interest Chicago feels in the success of the exposition. There is every reason to believe that there will be a large and representative attendance at the meeting at the Palmer house next Tuesday. upon his theory. For years his labor ap-peared to be in vain and he accomplished but little. Almost a fortune was spent up-on his scheme and the end seemed yet afar off. After months of patient toll, he began to realize that his hopes would finally be realized and he began working with thing like a satisfactory result. Gradually did the plan outline itself and about four months ago Mr. Adams made a drawing of his model. He immediately began construct his model and in a few days

The engine is under construction on a vacant lot in the rear of Madison street and the tall tower with the double pipes and the tall tower with the double pipes pointing heavenward has attracted a great deal of attention. To all outward appearances, the engine looks like a huge tower, and the frame work is heavy and very similar to the scaffolding that is used in building a factory smokestack.

In connection with the air engine is a windmill which is also of Adams's invention. In fact, most of the tower and scal-folding is used to support the windmill, and has no relative bearing to the engine except to support the two large pipes, through which the air is obtained for the use of the engine.

Adjourned to this morning at 9 o'clock. The court will sit from day to day for hearing arguments, until the docket of this term is finished. "I can't go into details yet, but can give you a few ideas that will be interesting and will tell the story. It is not the rate of the wind that runs the machine but compressed air. The air is secured through the large pipes that are on the tower. There is located in the pipes a set of wheels and fans that cause a great deal of suction. The air comes down the pipes, and is compressed by special machinery and stored away. It matters not how dead the calm or stiff the breeze, as the engine is not affected either way by these condi-tions. As the air is secured, it is stored away, and is used as occasion may rethe way of enterprise and fine management. Thousands of people will remember that very recently the iron market was quite un settled. It occurred to these gentlemen that the tendency of the market was upward. So firmly did they count on this advance that an order was placed for thirty carloads of nails and wire. Even then their wareroom contained over five cars. The orders are being filled as promptly as possible, and in two weeks from this date the wareroom of the King Hardware Company will probably he laden with nails from top to bottom. Today the advanced price is just 80 cents per keg at the factory, and the price is still advancing.

Since this enormous advance it has been somewhat difficult for any house to get their quire for running the engine.
"I do not contend that I have discovered perpetual motion, but I do claim that I unless the machinery wore out. I consider it one of the greatest discoveries of the

Since this enormous advance it has been somewhat utificult for any house to get their orders filled from the factories, and very bad, indeed, has it been for the small dealers. The gentlemen who comprise the King Hardware Company are just as full of generosity as of enterprise, and for six weeks now, they have given their many customers all over the country largely the benefit of this great purchase. This alone will help to add popularity to the already popular house. As an evidence of the appreciation of their customers it is only necessary to say that fully two-thirds of this contract is already sold and is being delivered as rapidly as the factory can turn them out.

Besides the nells and wire they are also well cared for in contracts on horse shoes, bar iron, sadirons, etc., etc. In fact in all the staple goods for which they have an immense trade, which is rapidly increasing. It is their purpose to give, as far as they can afford it, the advantage of the remarkably low prices which recently prevailed, to those who send in their orders promptly. "First come—first served. age.
"In a day or two I will put in an elec tric dynamo, and the engine will generate the electricity. I will have lights hung over the entire plant and the place will be as bright as day.

"The engine will be placed on exhibition in New York and a stock company is to be formed in a few days. It is a complete success and I do not regret the money that I have spent upon it."

The exercises at the close of the year's work in this excellent school were the most successful for the past five or six years. They were well attended by appreciative crowds. The enrollment ranges from 150 to 185, and the non-resident patronage from forty to sixty each year.
Dr. W. P. Lovejoy, of Athens, preached a fine sermon Sunday morning, followed by Rev. A. C. Thomas with a most excellent one at night. The concert was of the very best, and so was Tuesday night's elocutionary contest. Wednesday's graduating exercises were chaste and elegant in their classical neatness. The class of fifteen pretty girls presented "An Evening with Holmes" in charming style. The principal feature was an autograph letter from Dr. Holmes, addressed to President Orr. The letter was written by the old "Autocrat" three years ago.

"I think that the engine will eventually supersede steam and electricity for motive power, as my machine can be operated at less than half the cost of the other two. "Cities can use it for running immense plants and the power to be secured from compressed air is not a probability, but a certainty to be realized in the near future." The windmill Mr. Adams has invented and which occupies a portion of the tower is a wonderful piece of machinery. It is unique in design and compactly built.

The invention of the air engine is one of the wonders of this century and many will be inclined to believe that it will not work as is claimed for it. This Mr. Adams will practically demonstrate when he opens his enigne for the public's inspection, which will be in a few

POSTPONED AGAIN. Dr. Hanvey's Case Was Sent Over on Account of Mr. Austin's Sickness.

SPECIAL TERM MAY BE CALLED

One of the Indictments Against Mrs. M. E. Hicken Nolle Prossed—Sexton and Crews Were Released on Bond.

Dr. Lewis Hanvey's haggard and nervous eatures brightened up yesterday morning when Judge Clark sent his case over and said that a special term would probably be called for the trial of it some time in the future.

Lest week when the case was postponed because of the illness of Colonel Jame W. Austin, leading counsel for Hanvey it was stated by Judge Richard Clark that he would set the case peremptorily for Monday and that he would call it for trial and send it to trial whether Colonel Austin was able to attend court or not. Judge Clark said that he would give the leading counsel for Hanvey an opportunity to recover his health, but that if he was not well by Monday Hanvey would have to secure new counsel.

When Judge Lumpkin vacated the courtroom up stairs Judge Clark called court to order and called the Hanvey case. Colonel Austin was in court. He was by no means a well man. When the case was called he arose and stated that it was very embarrassing for him to have to ask for a continuance of the case, but that he was simply physically unable to go on. He said that he had been advised by his physician and that he had a certificate from him to that effect.

Judge Clark interrupted Colonel Austin and told him that he could see that he was in no condition to go on with the trial and that he would send it over. "I suppose, your honor," said Solicitor Hill, "that that means for the term." Judge Clark said that was not his under-

Judge Clark said that was not his understanding of the postponement, as he intended to confer with Judge Lumpkin regarding the calling of a special term before the fall term, as there were several cases that might be disposed of.

During the disposition of his case Dr. Hanvey was almost completely unnerved. When first brought into the courtroom he was in a very nervous state. He could look in no particular direction any length of in no particular direction any length of time and moved his feet uneasily and shifted his position several times. He seem-ed much better when it was decided that his case was not to be called at present. He was taken back to jail with the same handcuffs and belt used on Myers during his trial.

Courthouse Cullings.

One of the cases pending against Mrs M. E. Hicken for forgery was nol prossed yesterday morning by the solicitor. She was convicted in one instance, but the supreme court held that she had forged no name no matter how similar it might appear to that of a real name, and no matter what description she may have given of a per-son who was not in existence. The indictment which was quashed was one in the case in wilch she is charged wich ferging the name of Agnew, a Florida cashier. He refused to come here to testify. Court Miscellany.

Judge Westmereland's court was begun yesterday and ten negro gamblers were on trial when court adjourned yesterday afternoon. A number of cases resulted in verdicts of not guilty and in the cases of the members of the Harmony Club, charged with gaming, the solicitor nol prossed them because of lack of evidence to convict.

Afte spending nearly eight months in jail, Sanford Crews and William Sexton, two young men charged with highway robbery, were yesterday morning permitted to give bond. They were tried and con-victed of the charge against them and sen-tenced to ten years in the pentientiary. A new trial has been granted them, how-

Judge Van Epps held court yesteray and heard a number of motions and demur-rers. This morning he will hold a call of the appearsice docket. Immediately af-Stuart's Gin and Buchu ter this he will have a call of the docket for the purpose of setting cases for trial.

Judge Lumpkin held court yesterday and heard a number of minor motions. He gave orders in several uninteresting cases. Judge Lumpkin will probably adjourn court this week.

The grand jury will meet this morning. It is understood that the final report of this body will be tendered Judge Lumpkin. It will probably be interesting reading. Solicitor Hill will probably leave for Tate Springs in a few days and will remain there until the motion for a new trial in the Myers case is called. Judge Clark adjourned court yesterday and dismissed the jurors, He may look after some chambers business this morning.
